ALMA MATER

We hail thee, Alma Mater.
Our hearts are filled with pride.
With voices strong we raise this song,
As we march with victorious stride.
We'll always stand together,
And fight to do or die.
Sincere and true, this toast to you,
Our own Lakeland High.

Administration Guides

ADMINISTRATION

Supervising school activities is the main function of the administration. The principal is mainly concerned with meeting certification and accreditation standards of the state and the Southern Association. Discipline of the student body is the chief duty of the assistant principal. The supervising principal is director of all schools in the city.

School Activities

GUIDANCE

Adding two new counsellors this year, the guidance department is well equipped for advising students about college, vocations, and general problems. Each year various tests are given to prepare students for the future. An accurate record of each student's history is kept in office files.

Lunchroom workers are, first row: Roberta Collier, Edith Yelvington, Marie Cook, Betty Gall. Second row: Ruby Dees, Micki Green, Eunie Morris, manager Helen Brown, Lilly Young, Mattie Green, and Henry Jackson.

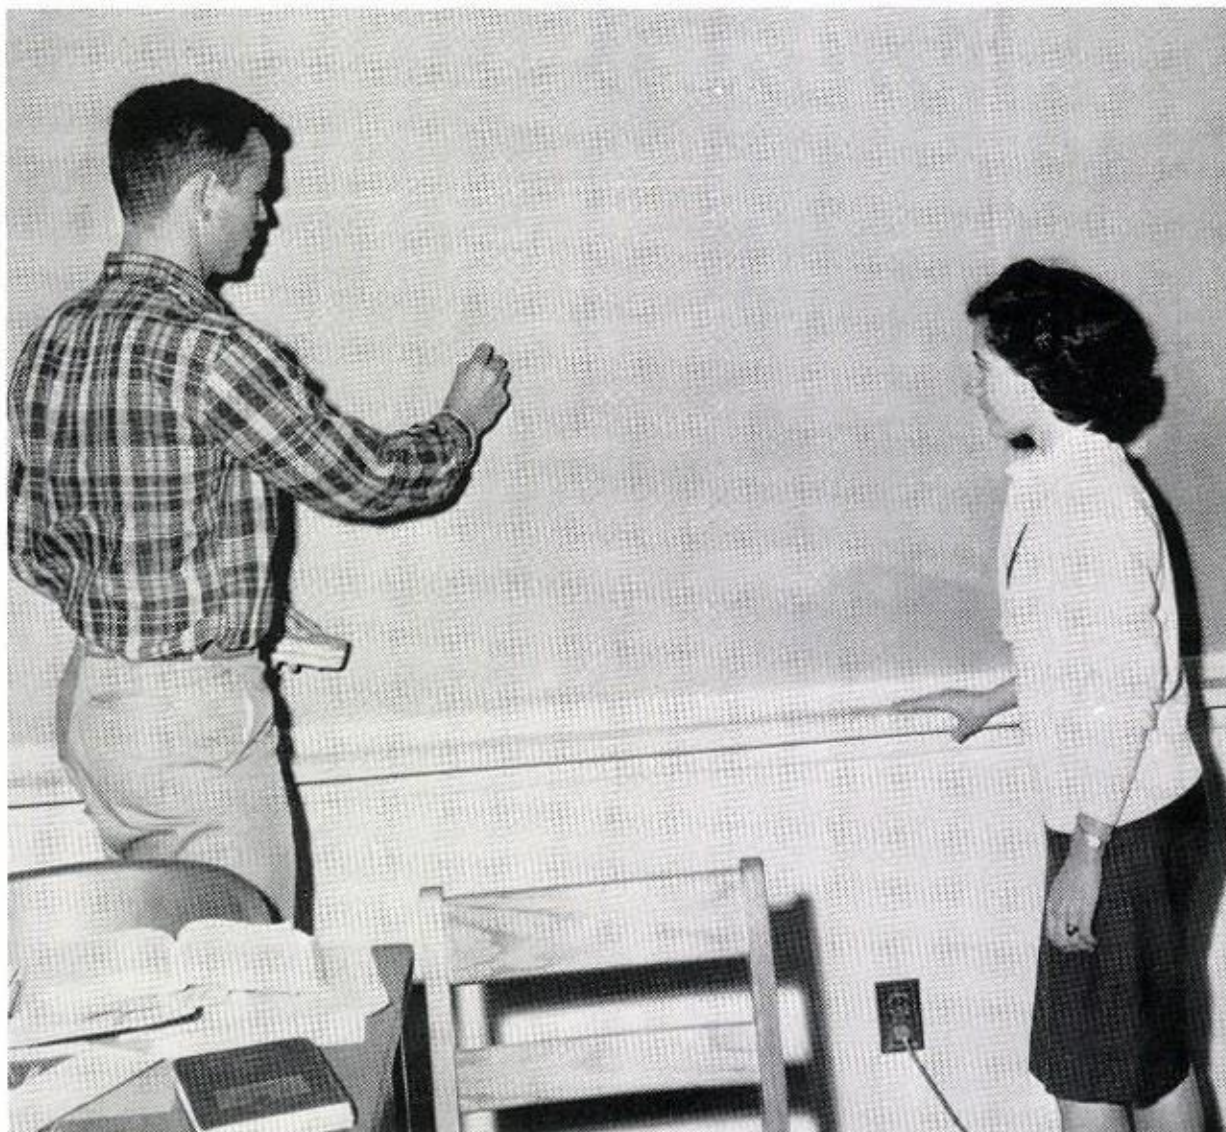

Public health nurse Mrs. Margaret Marchant and school nurse Mrs. Julia Gibson check the first aid cabinet.

Mathematics

Coach Nelson explains an intricate geometric theorem to Larry Deeds.

With courses in general math, algebra, modern math, geometry, advanced math, and trigonometry, the mathematics department lays a solid foundation for future academic pursuits. Each year the department sponsors the High School Mathematics Contest, which represents LHS in international competition. The Engineers' Fair at the University of Florida provides an interesting diversion from classroom routine. In all math classes attention is given to theoretical application as well as practical aspects.

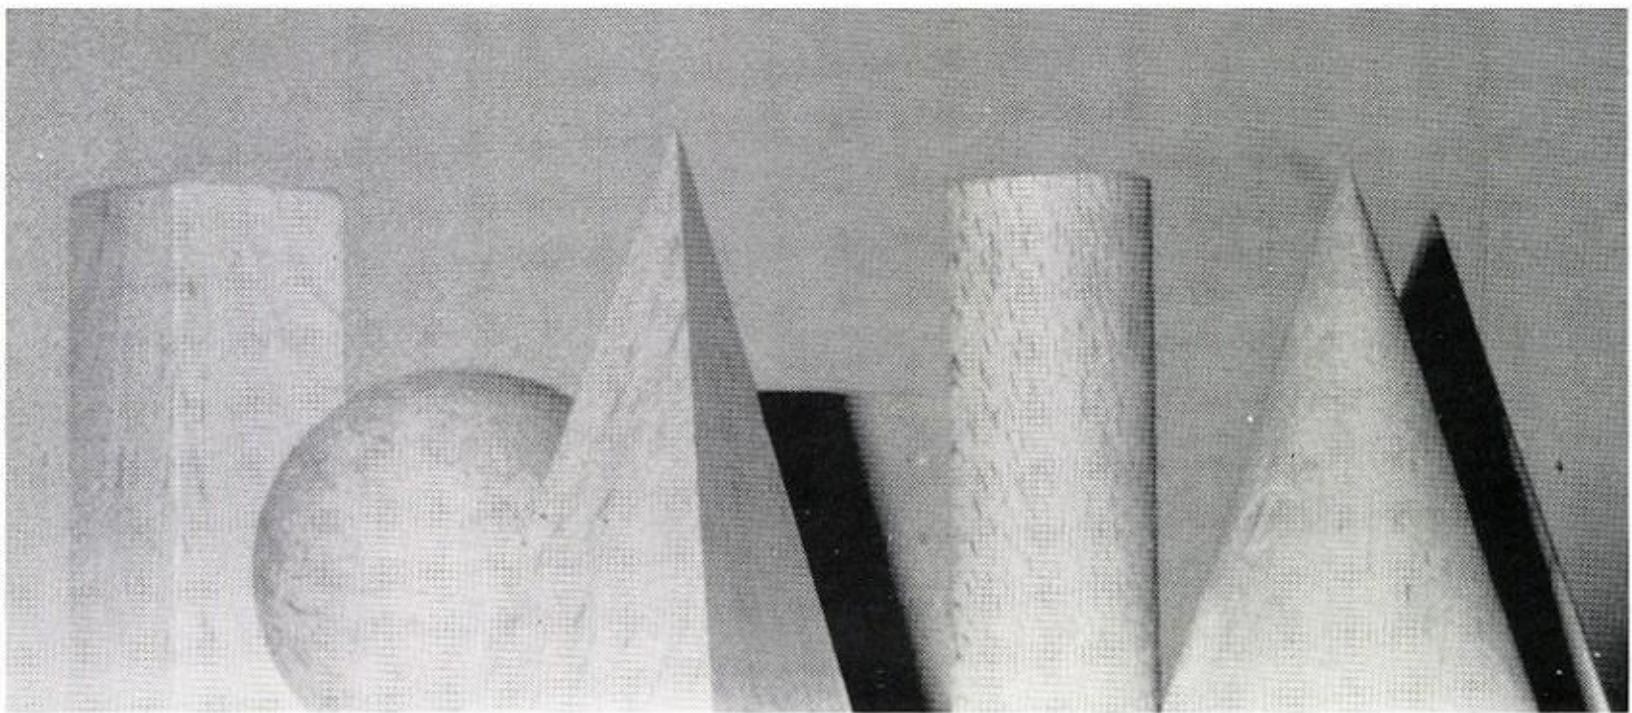

Advanced math students Mike Haseman and Carolyn Doran study the graph of a trigonometric function.

Helps to Develop Logical Minds

Donna Renfroe and Bobby Valentine build geometric figures from Tinker Toys.

MATHEMATICS

Three-dimensional figures illustrate solid geometry.

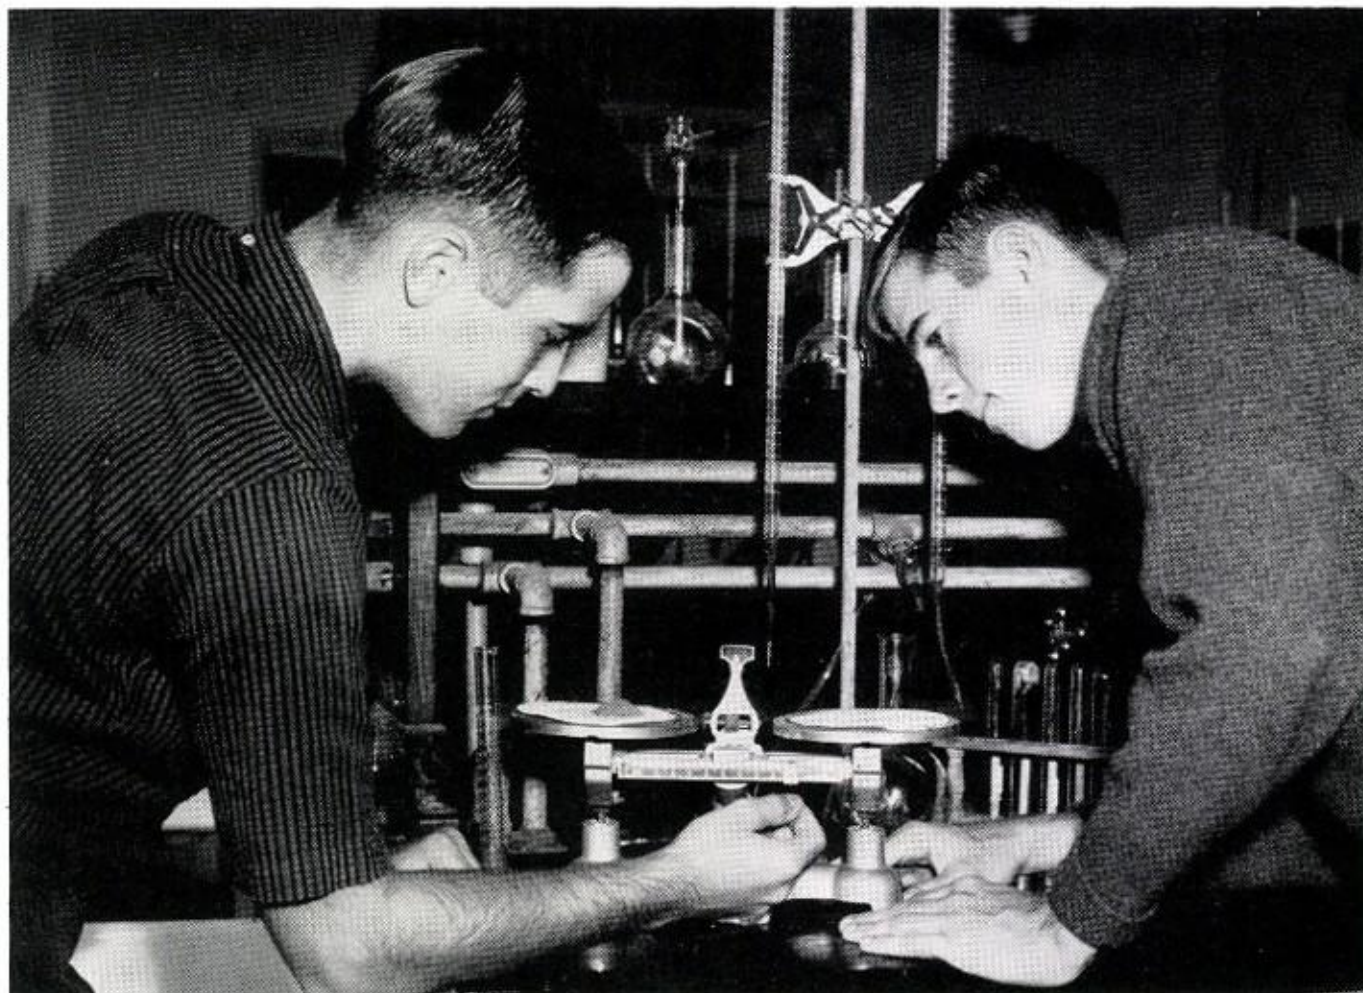

Science and Home Ec Emphasize

SCIENCE

To fulfill the one credit of science necessary for graduation, students may choose from biology, chemistry, health education, physics, or applied science. The courses are supplemented by lab work, term papers, collections, films, field trips, and lectures. Science students may take an active part in the regional and state Science Fairs. The importance of science has been increased by numerous technological advances.

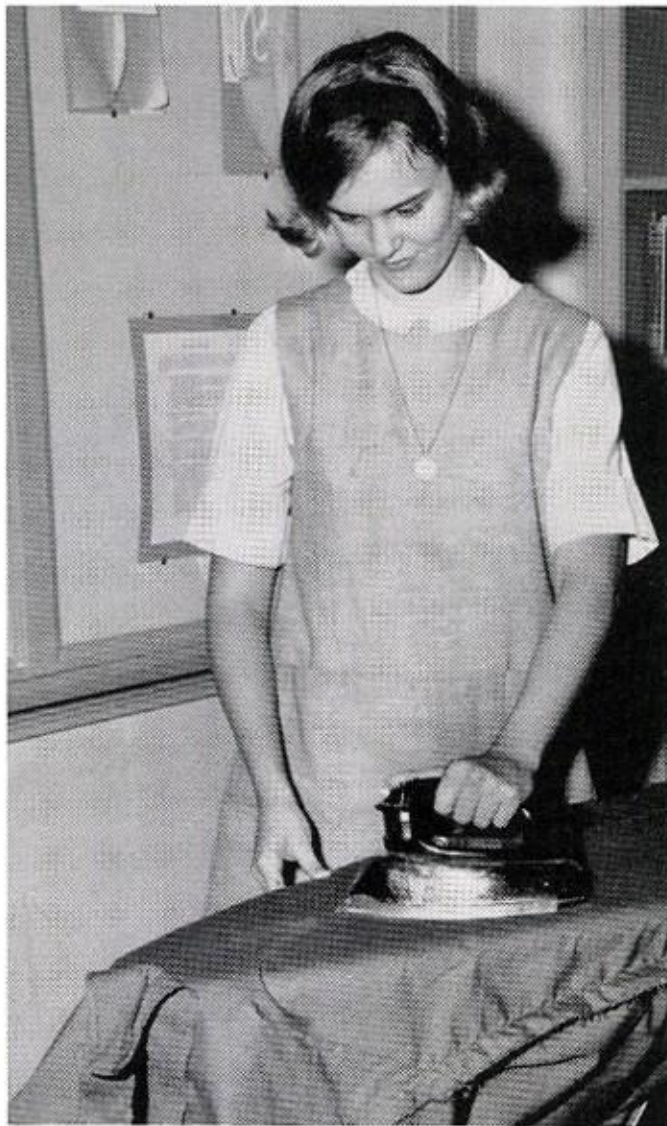

John Slade attempts to classify a rare species of Lepidoptera for his insect collection.

Chemistry students Frazier Bess and Ray Zogorski weigh out chemicals for an intricate experiment.

Laboratory Work

Training in the development of a desirable home and family life in today's world is the purpose of the home economics department. Consideration is given to clothes, foods, housing, budgeting, and the family unit. Students are instructed in the proper manner of attaining wise family goals through classroom and home experiences.

Ida May Murray gives her home ec project finishing touches on the ironing board.

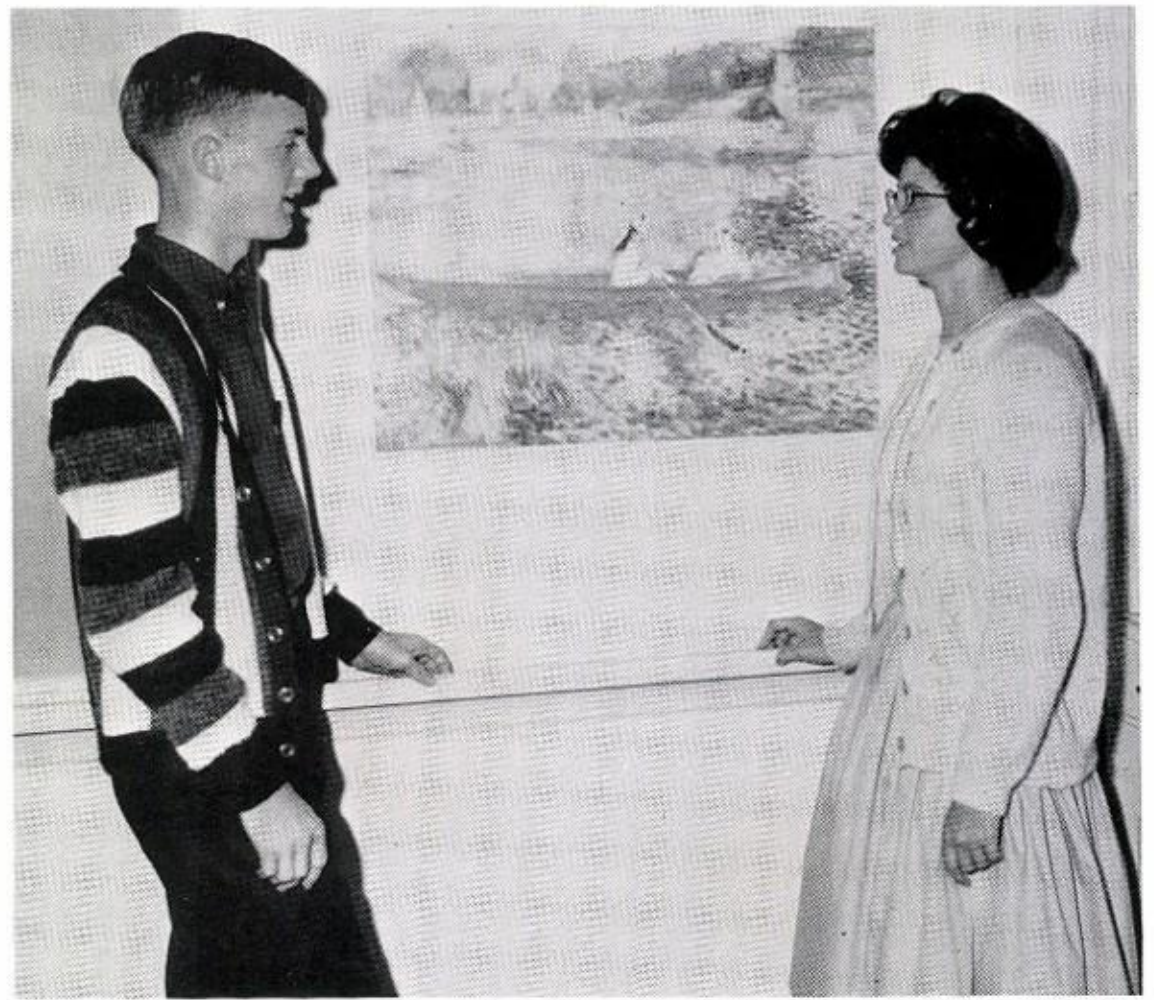

HOME ECONOMICS

Diane Watson and Susie Clayton put their knowledge of the stove to practical use.

LANGUAGE

In this world of rapid communication and international relations, foreign languages are increasing in popularity and importance. Students may choose from French, German, Spanish, and Latin. Both audio-lingual study and traditional methods are used to increase knowledge of language. Advanced French students are given an opportunity to write to teen-agers abroad. Students become acquainted with the life in each country through movies, displays, and interest club activities.

Scott Reed and Allena Ball consider French culture by studying a work of Renoir's.

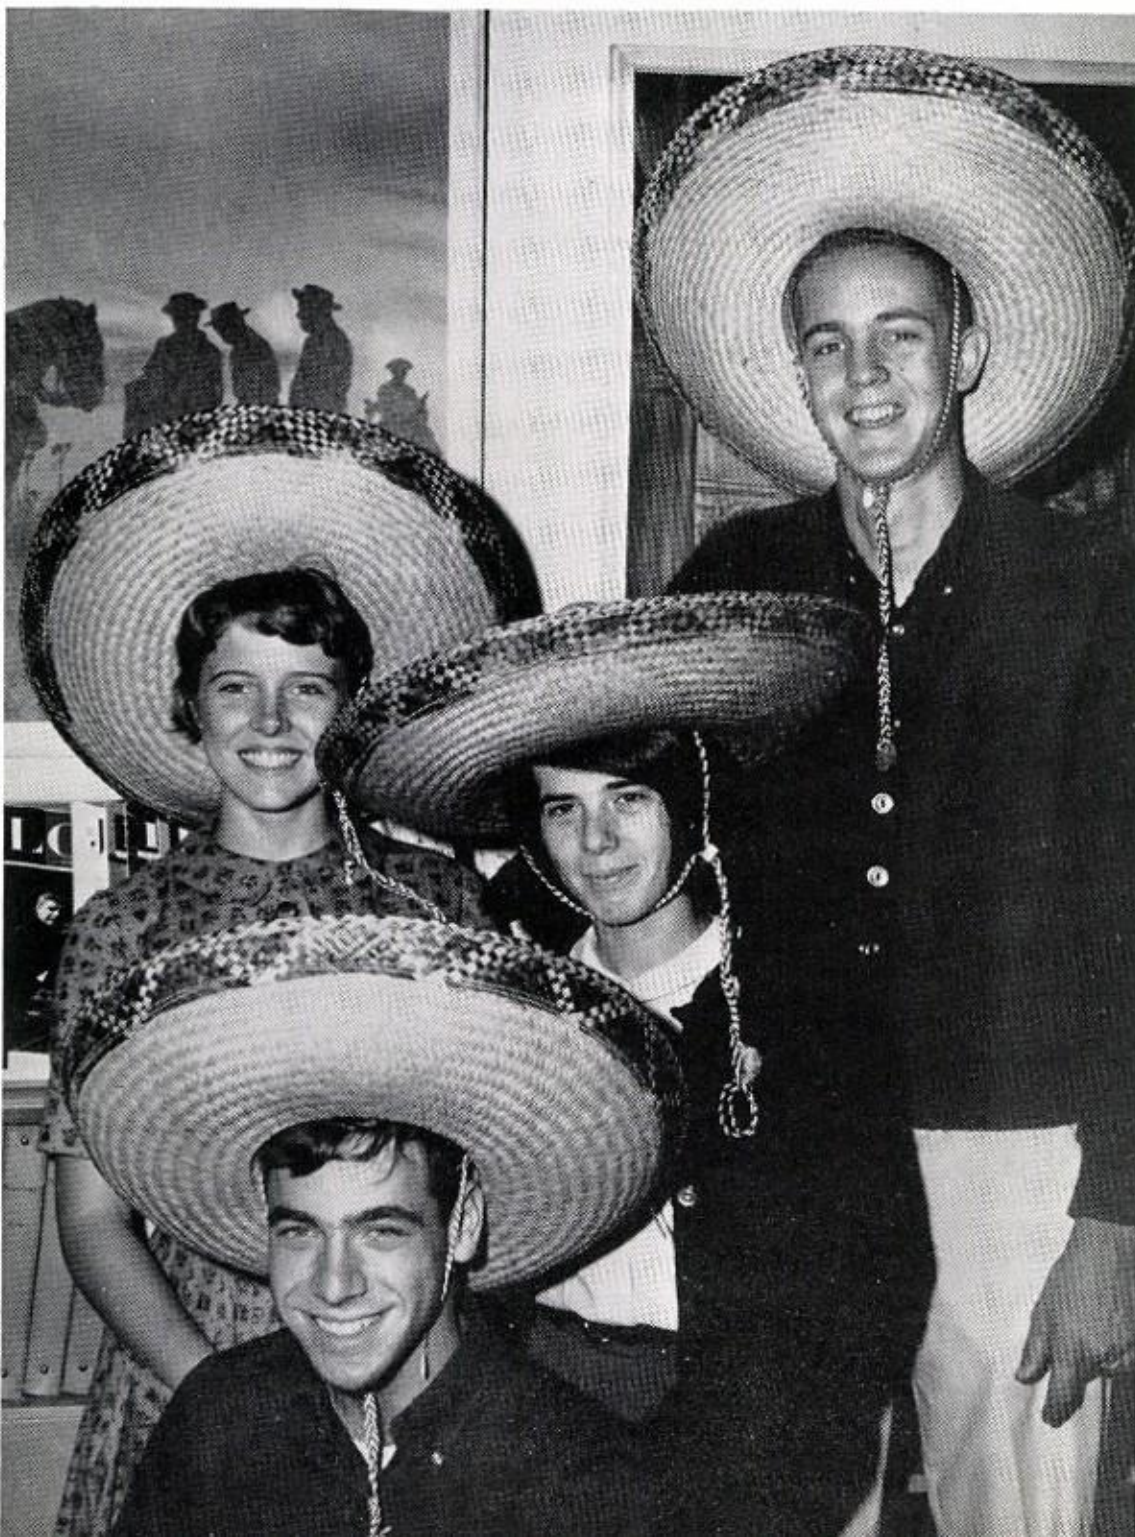

Donna Welch points out the intricate detail of a Roman galley ship to Kemp Blanton and Kay Annis.

International Bonds

Charles Alling takes advantage of the language laboratory to perfect his comprehension of the spoken language.

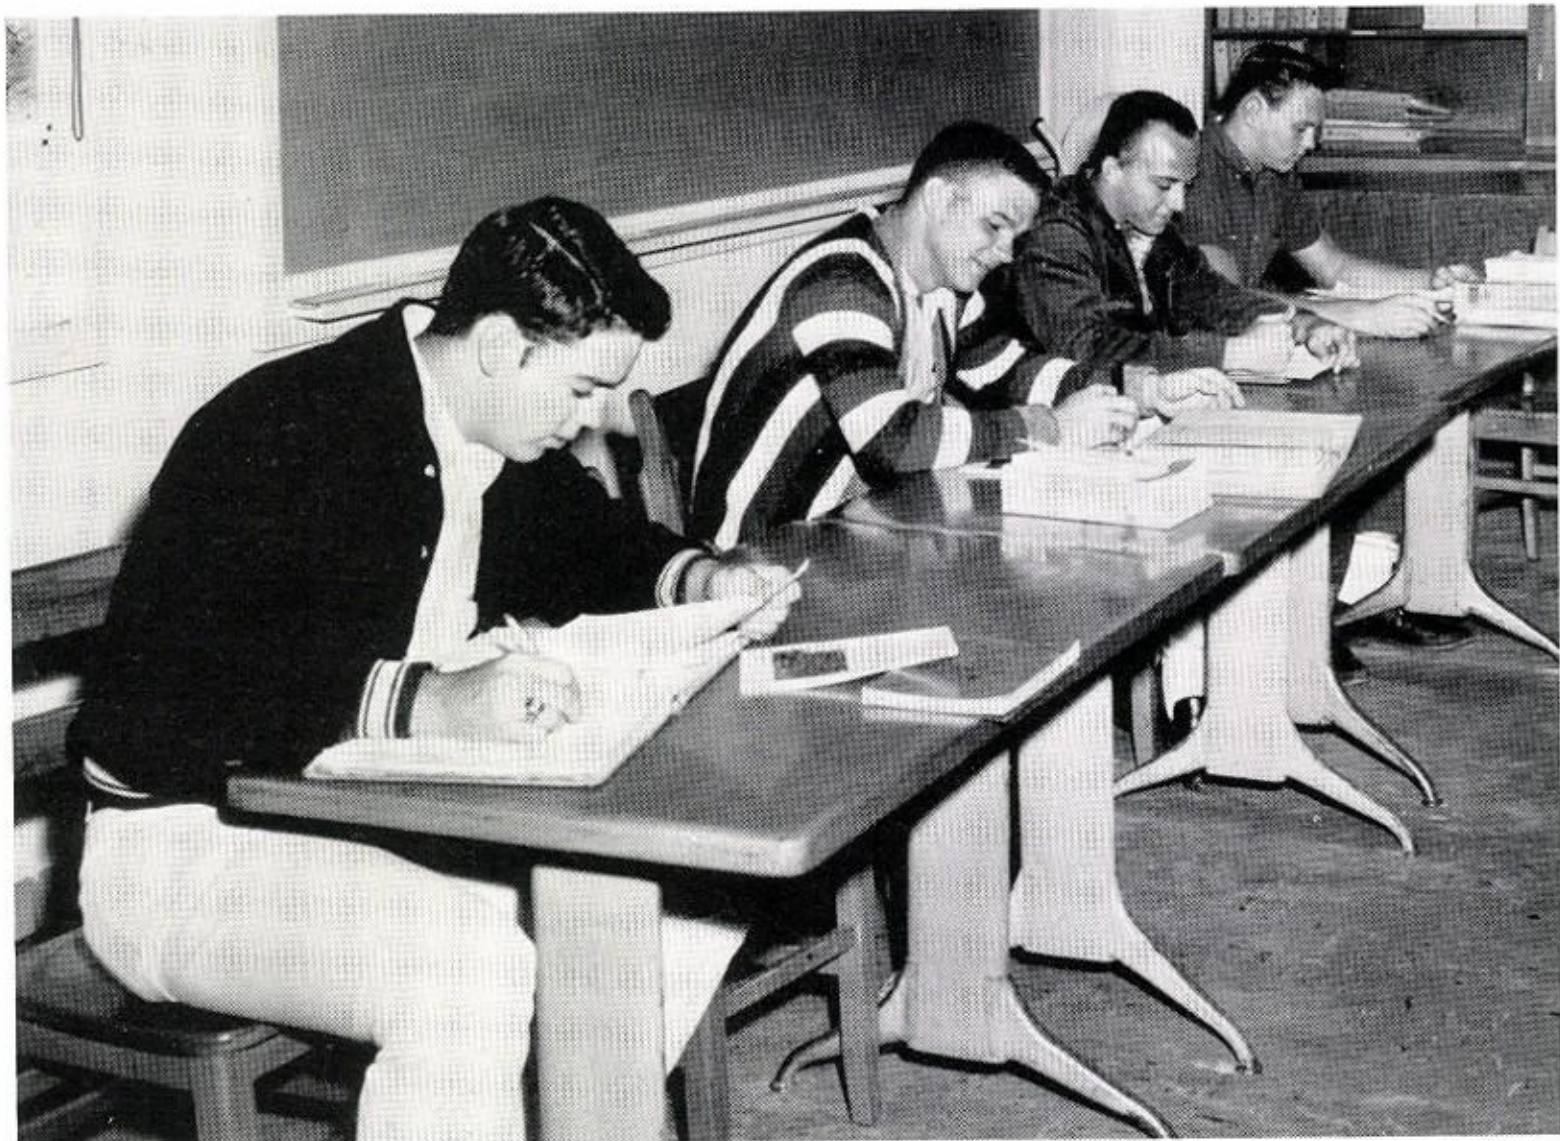

Faye Bryson, Vick Caserta, Marsha Grant, and Bobby Allen don sombreros to create a Spanish air.

AGRICULTURE

The curriculum of the agriculture department consists of three years of training in the agricultural sciences. Each student is responsible for a year's project. The care of plants and animals gives students great personal satisfaction and a sense of responsibility. Courses include citrus production, ornamental horticulture, field crop production, and dairy and beef cattle husbandry.

Ag students Robert Trask and Pete Johnson examine plants for insects in the ornamental nursery.

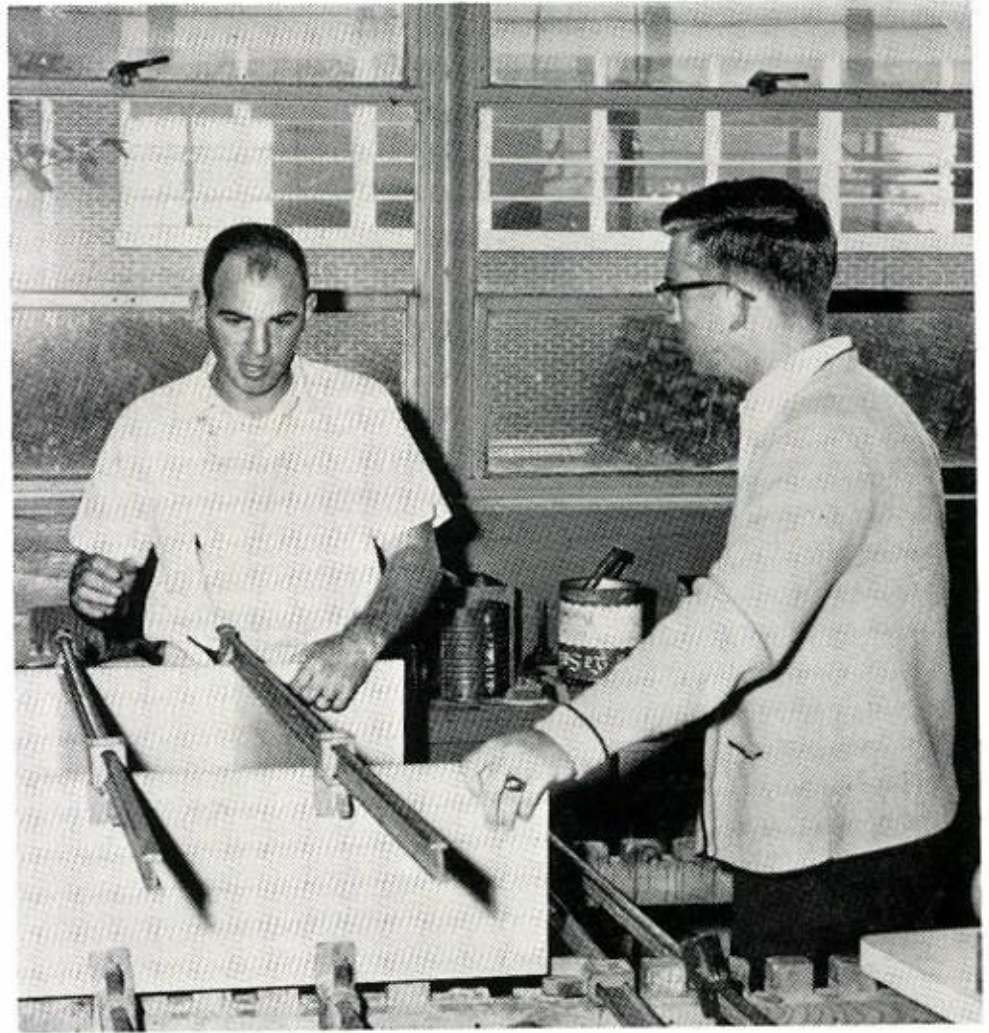

The study of agriculture involves classwork, as well as practical experience.

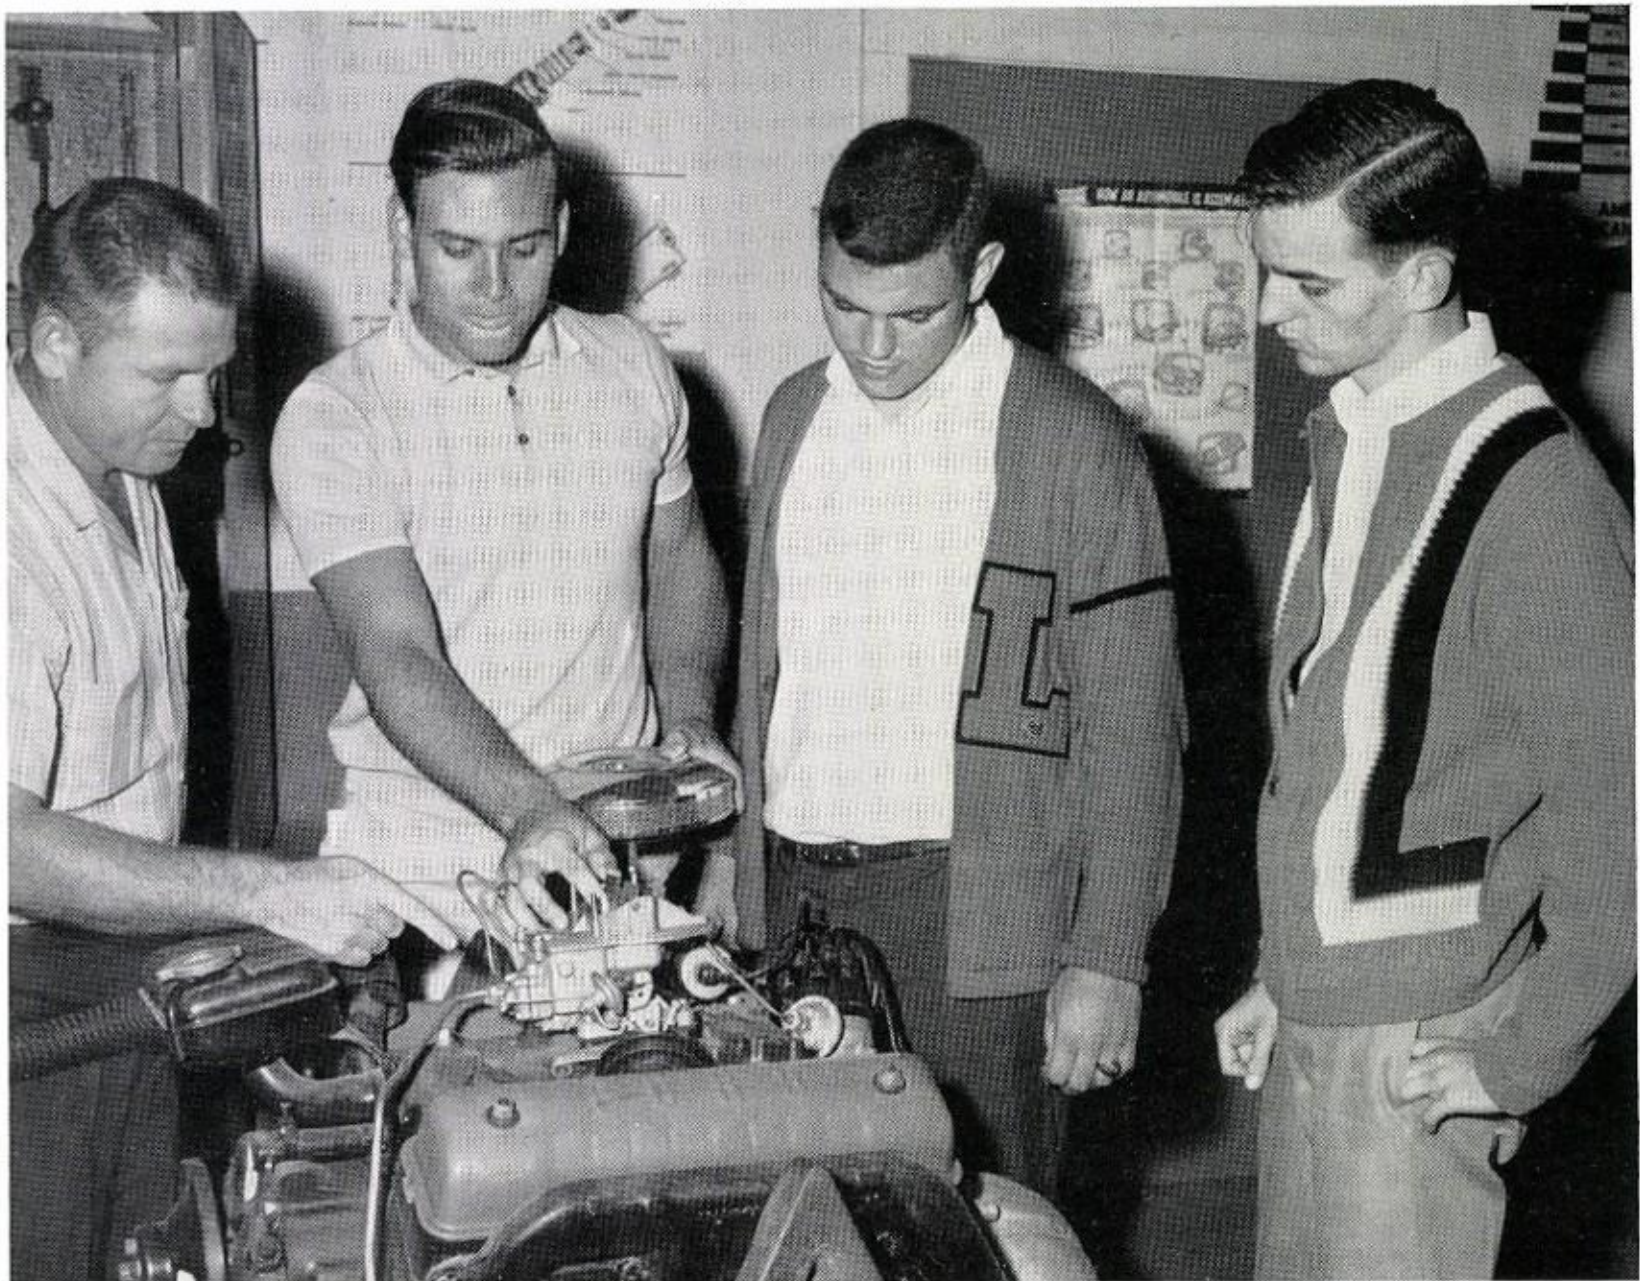

Stress Practical Skills

SHOP

The industrial arts department provides students an opportunity to put their skills and abilities to practical use. Including courses in shop, mechanics, industrial drawing, and electronics, the department provides vocational information and experience. Through this basic training, pupils are better prepared to cope with our technological world.

Mr. Earl Black demonstrates to Kenneth Fair how to properly align a cabinet for gluing.

Mr. James Paige explains workings of the carburetor to Martin Banks, Russell Wood, and Philip Scott.

English IV students Frank Borowicz, Bobbi Allen, Eddie Phillips, Myron Thompson, and Esther Smith act out a scene from George Bernard Shaw's Pygmalion.

Offering the latest in paperback editions is Mr. Cook's Book Nook, one of the finest projects of the English department. Thousands of volumes on a wide variety of subjects are sold to students grateful for the opportunity to broaden their reading horizons.

Department Improves World Communication

ENGLISH

English is fast becoming the universal language. The English department keeps up with modern trends by offering an extensive curriculum including drama, speech, reading, journalism, and Bible literature, as well as the standard courses. The study of English opens the door to the complicated world of communication.

reading . . . reading . . . reading . . .

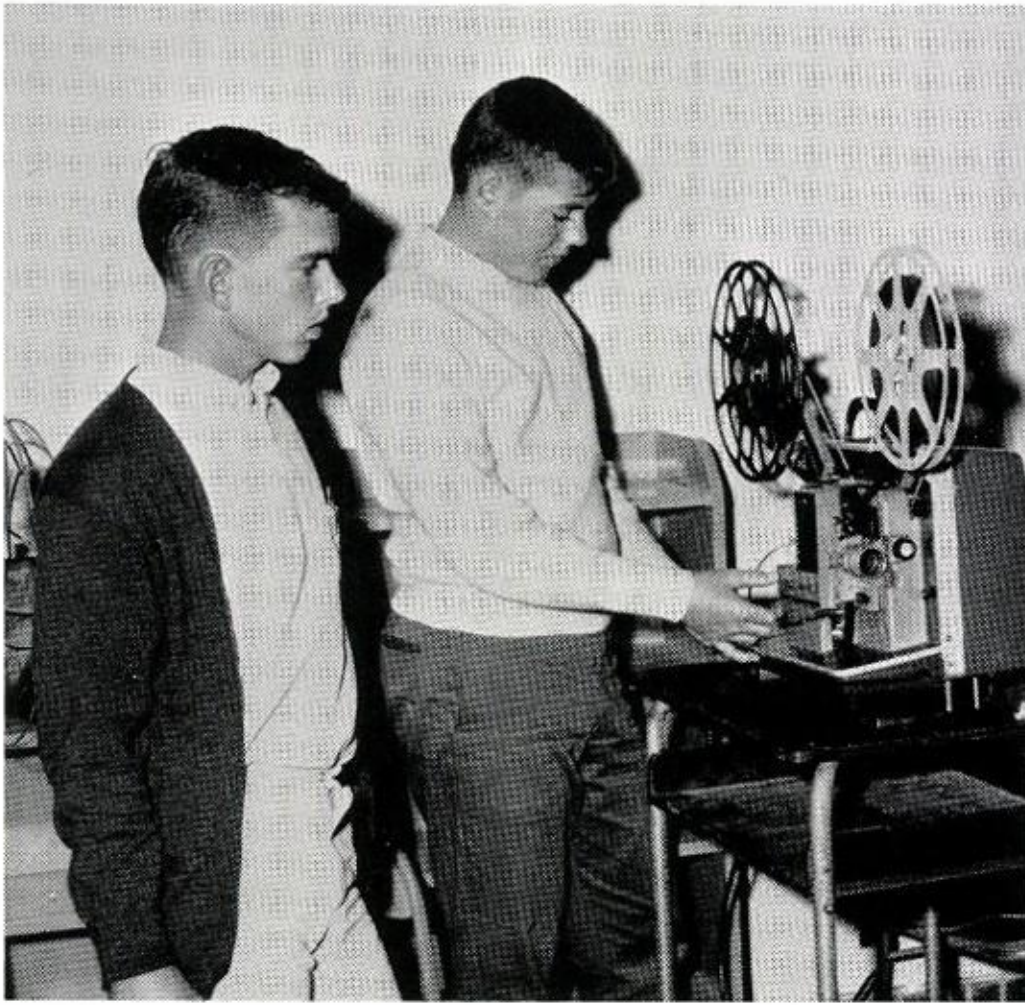

Miss Evelyn Wagner explains a complex question in grammar to her English II class.

Student Culture Advanced

LIBRARY

An indispensable part of school life, the library gives students well-balanced and up-to-date facilities. Manned by a corps of trained librarians, student assistants, and audio-visual aid workers the library offers an extensive selection of reference materials, fiction, biography, periodicals, records, and filmstrips. The library is the heart of the school.

AVA boys Richard Bell and Steve Killough prepare the projector for showing a film.

Through Art and Library

ART

The art department strives to instill in the students a love and appreciation of works of art. Principles of color, balance, line, harmony, and unity form the skeleton of the instruction. Pupils are given a basic knowledge of water color, oil, and pastels. Through the department, artistically-minded students find an outlet for their desire of self-expression.

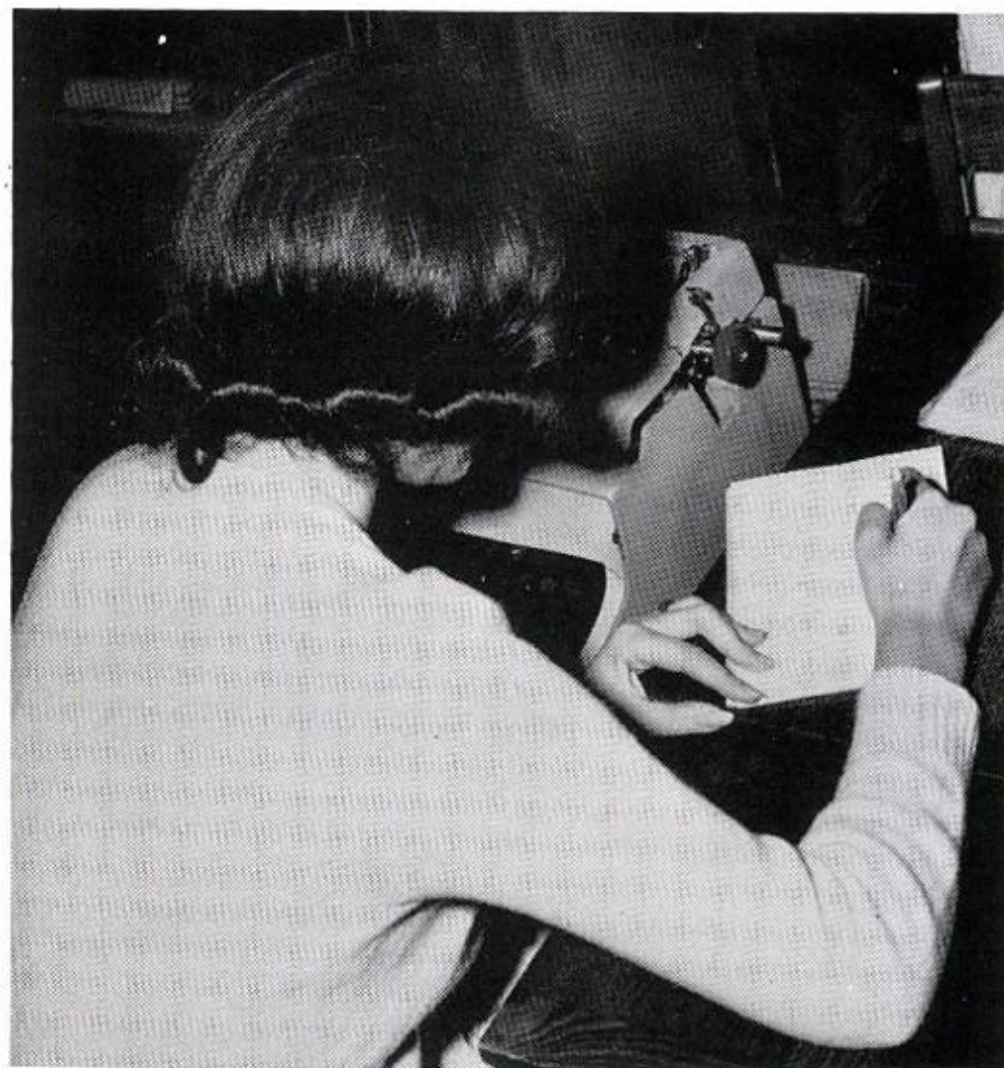

Mr. Joseph Clark instructs Edward Knippers in the proper method of making pottery.

Deborah Dettman and Sue Robinson offer constructive criticism of classmates' works.

BUSINESS

The primary purpose of the business department is to prepare students for a career in the business world. The program . . . including typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, consumer education, business arithmetic, and business English . . . is designed to provide an understanding of the environment and organization of business. This department gives students a strong professional background.

Training in shorthand prepares students for secretarial work, as do courses in office practice and typing.

Classes concentrate on typing exercises to gain speed and accuracy.

in Business and Cooperative Training

COOPERATIVE TRAINING

Providing a system where students can work and learn simultaneously is the main function of Cooperative Training. Students participating in this program must attend morning classes in business technology, as well as academic courses. The afternoons are spent in on-the-job training at local business concerns.

DCT students rush from classroom to job.

Gerald Crafton, Ted Weeks, Sandra Thomas, and Mary Willis learn business skills through classroom experience.

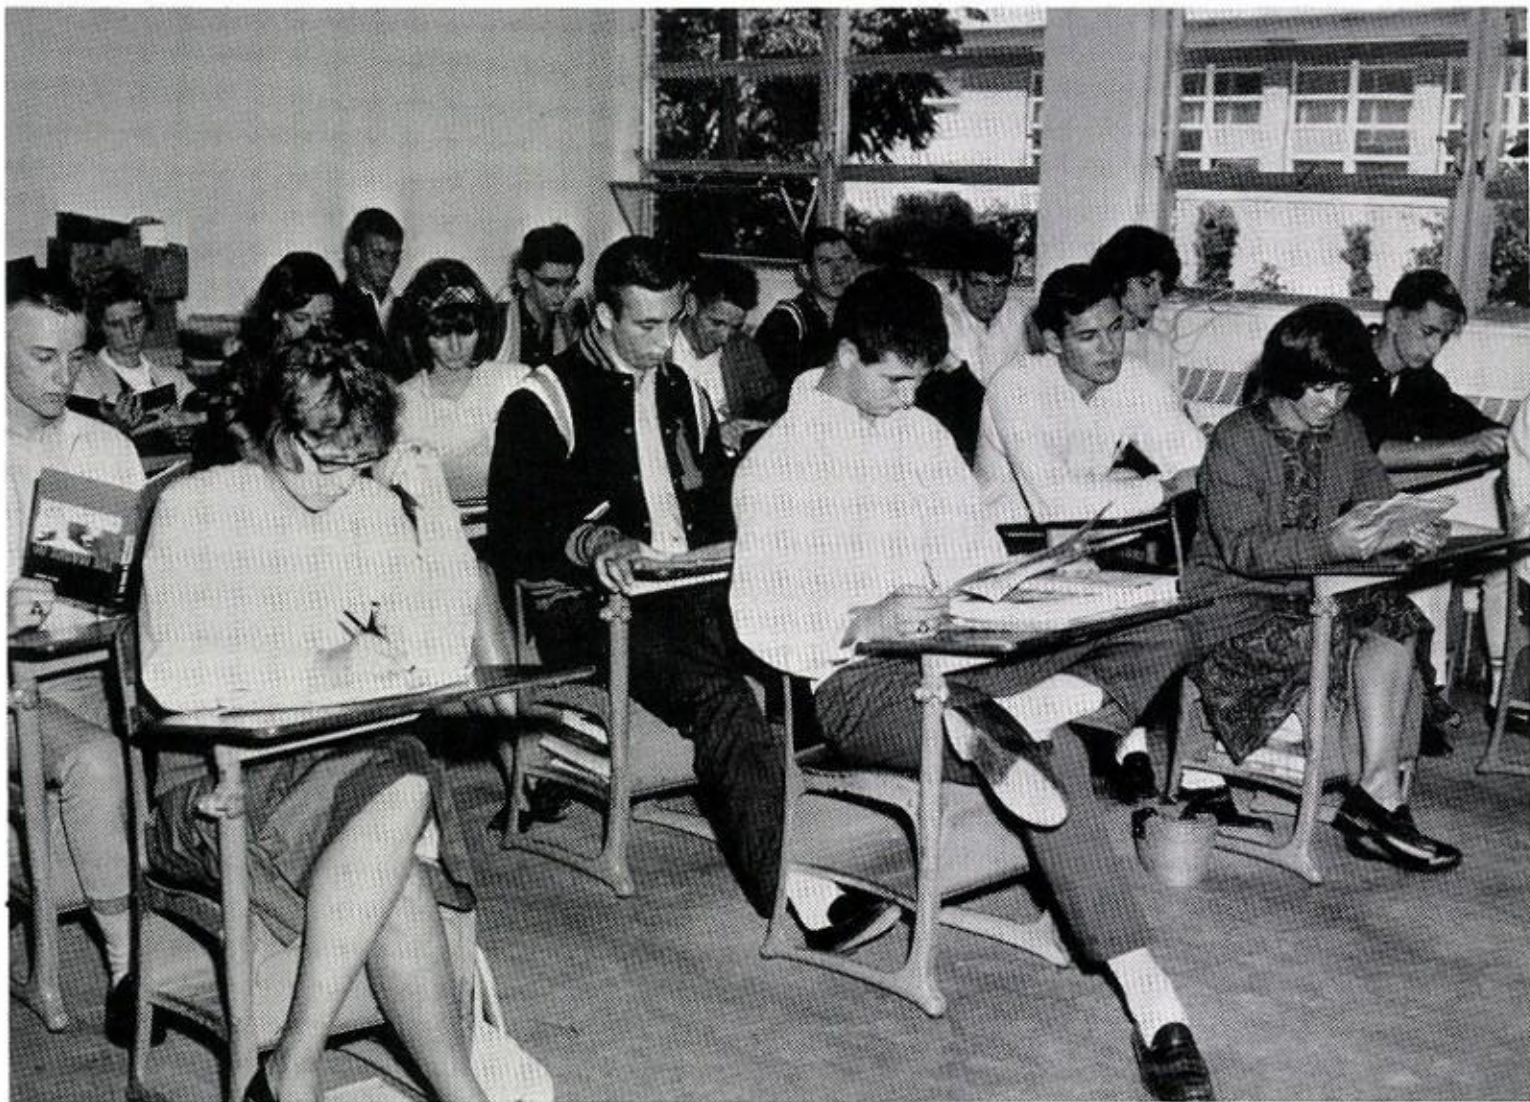

Social Studies Accent

The social studies department gives students a chance to examine in depth both ancient and modern, eastern and western civilizations. Courses, supplemented by lectures, visual aids, and outside reading, include American history, problems in democracy, current history, world geography, and world history. For the first time, the state-required Americanism versus Communism is being incorporated into the American history classes.

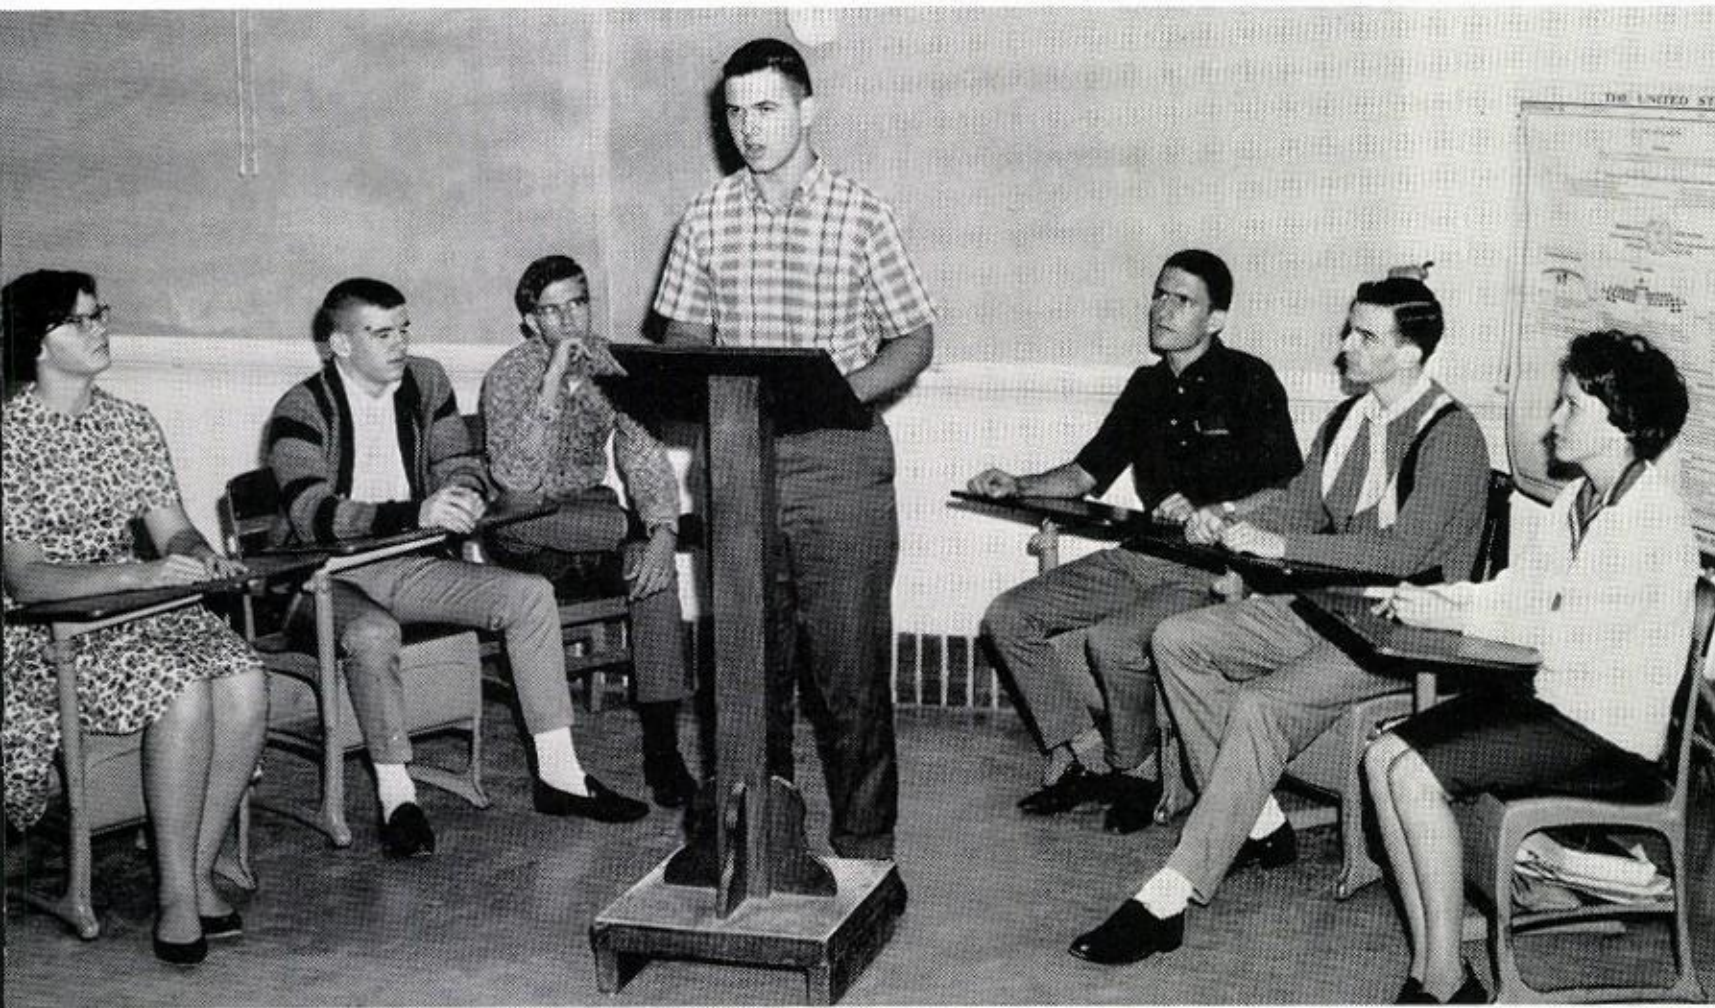

A psychology problem captures the attention of teacher, Miss Margaret Ward, and students, Doug Wesley, Patty Garthwaite, Sue Berndston, and Jim Rhoden.

SOCIAL STUDIES

By studying the past and the present history, students are better prepared to comprehend the future.

an Informed Citizenry

Pam Husek, Jim Taylor, Bobby Bunting, Monroe Reynolds, Hans Kuster, Philip Scott, and Frances Sopko debate current events.

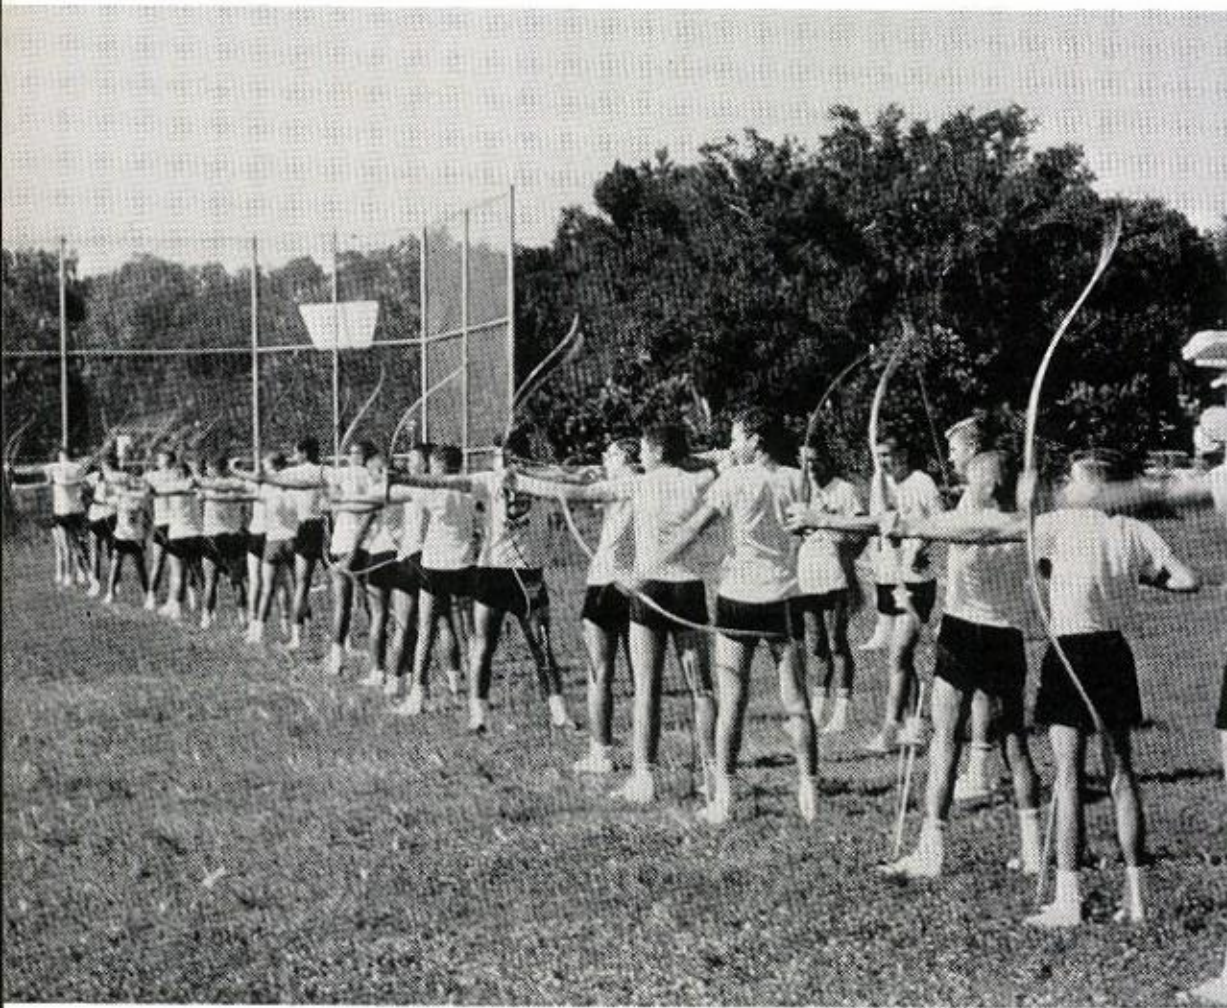

David Swindell, Karen Forslev, and Jeff Cox fix the day's point of interest on Russia.

Rhythm Important in Music

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Striving to develop strong, healthy bodies as well as mature minds, physical education is stressed in the school curriculum. Catering to the interests of many, this department offers dancing, riflery, track, football, tennis, volleyball, hockey, fishing, archery, baseball, and basketball. Through team play, students are taught the principles of good sportsmanship and cooperation.

Phys ed boys develop muscles and marksmanship in archery practice on our spacious back campus, which also contains a full-scale football field.

Training and practice in ballroom dancing prepare boys and girls in the phys ed classes for future social activities.

MUSIC

The music department is composed of instrumental music . . . including A and B bands and various ensemble groups; and choral music . . . composed of girls', boys', and mixed choruses. With a new director, Mr. Robert Boulware, the chorus performs with increased zeal and precision. Both band and chorus provide spirit and entertainment at school activities. Participation in regional and state contests provides increased motivation for these dedicated musicians.

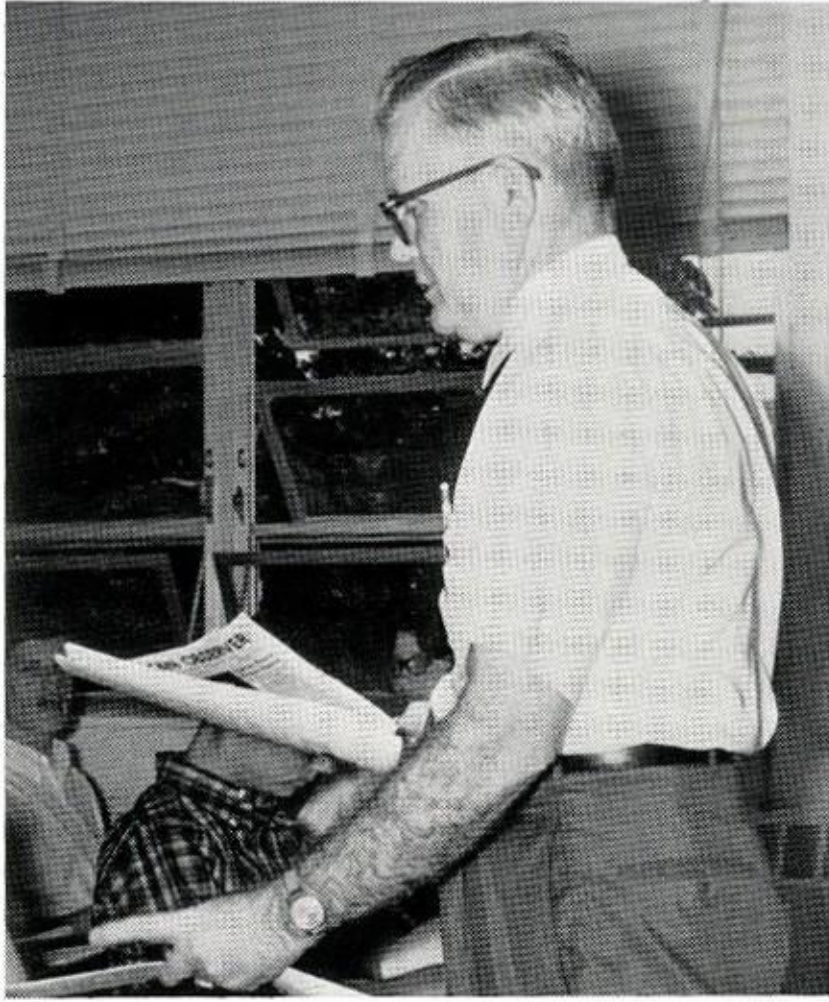

Polished performances of the chorus are the result of hours of tedious work.

Early morning practices perfect band members in precision drills.

In Memoriam

LHS was saddened this year by the death of two of its faculty members . . .

MRS. NAN THOMPSON

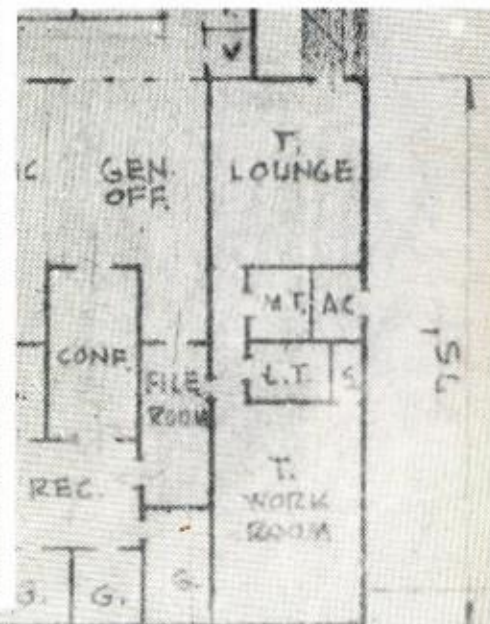

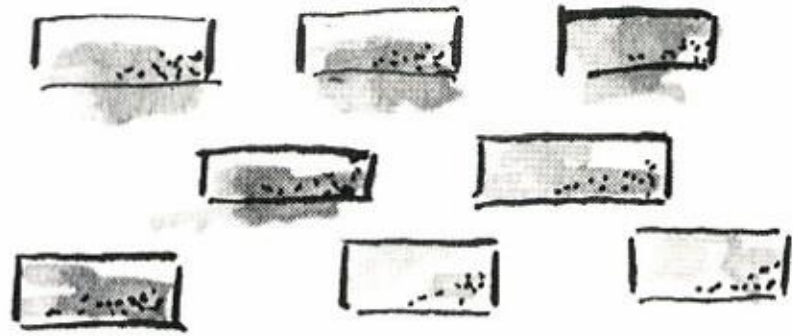

MRS. NORMA WARREN

No one knows what is backstage of Life, so everything depends on our performance before the footlights. A good performance never ends, for even though the players have left the stage, what they said and did lingers on. Few roles are as challenging as that of a teacher of man, and few people have played the part with the cheerfulness of Mrs. Nan Thompson or the dedication of Mrs. Norma Warren. Mrs. Thompson helped us learn to make our way in this world, while Mrs. Warren tried to prepare us for another world. If the light of these performances fades, it is the fault of us, the audience, for refusing to see.

Build We Citizenship

Editorial Staff Sets High

Choosing a theme, creating lay-outs, checking names, planning pictures, and proofreading finished copy are among the numerous duties of the Highlander editorial staff. Under the watchful eye of advisor, Miss Hazel Haley, the twelve staff members, bound by a common desire to produce a top-notch annual, work unceasingly on this labor of love. Tedious hours of grueling work after school are spent in meeting the year's four deadlines. Every heart-breaking struggle is quickly forgotten as the last shipment of copy is sent to Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas. Building the Highlander from the first rough lay-outs to the complete book, the staff gives itself willingly in perseverance and devotion.

Eddie Phillips shows proper lay-out procedure to Penny Hilts and Frazier Bess.

Highlander Business Staff

Mara Spencer takes the wheel as she and Barbara Crowley go out to solicit ads for the Highlander.

The backbone of the Highlander is the business staff, for without its hard work and unceasing effort there would be no yearbook. These eight girls spend many hours soliciting ads from local merchants. The money from these ads, supplemented by sales, is what makes up the $11,000 budget used to publish the Highlander. This year the business staff offered the studentry a bargain day by selling annuals for $4.50. The students showed their approval by purchasing five hundred books that one day. The fourteen hundred yearbooks which these girls sell serve as a lasting memorial to their efforts.

Lucy Miller and Marilyn Mills do secretarial work for the Highlander.

Bagpipe

With a lively biweekly newspaper, the Bagpipe staff keeps LHS students up to date on the latest fashions, sports, polls, and school news. Besides the newspaper, the Bagpipe sponsors the calendar girls contest and publishes the popular calendar. With a new advisor, Mrs. Jacquie Bell, the staff strives to maintain precious standards which have given it International Quill and Scroll recognition and other state and national honors.

Bagpipe members Patti Detwiler, Chris Myres, Janie Blanton, Lynda Clark, and Boyd Simpson find that hard work demands nourishment.

Tam O'Shanter Inspires

Leaving for downtown to solicit ads are Tam staffers Linda Taylor, Barbie Rudolph, and Angie Smith, front seat; Mariesa Liston and Kathy Suffecool, back seat; Carol Wesche, Sue Berndtson, Gail McNeal, and Charlene Chandler, on top.

Tam O'Shanter, literary magazine published biannually, provides an outlet for artistic and literary expression. Student poetry, prose, and art work are centered around a main theme. The editorial and business staffs of Tam work hard to maintain their fine record of achievements. Tam is the recipient of the prized All-American Honor Rating from the National Scholastic Press Association. Tam, in its seventeenth year, is sponsored by the English Department.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Opportunity for Self-Government

One of the largest and most active organizations on campus is the Student Council, comprising homeroom representatives. It sponsors the Homecoming Drag, awards assembly, Goodwill and Orange Feather Drives, and other worthwhile projects. The student handbook and the student directory, the Clan, are printed with revenue from the bookstore, sole money-making activity of the Council. Sending delegates to district, state, and regional conventions keeps our Council abreast of the newest ideas to better the school.

GIRLS STATE

DONNA WELCH

Named to Girls State from LHS, Donna Welch represented her school there with distinction. She was elected to the coveted office of governor. Later she attended Girls Nation in Washington, where she served as Senate majority leader.

Donna has this to say: "Americans, wake up now. Now is the only time we have. Destiny is calling us and we must answer. What will you tell destiny? Will you say I am a free young American who realizes my advantages and privileges in our democracy? Will you strive to make the American government greater by obeying its laws and upholding its principles? This is the only way if we are to survive as a generation. Now is the only time we have to learn about our government and to become alert and able citizens. Tomorrow is here. We will soon hold the reins of command. Wake up."

Teaches Government Functions

BOYS STATE

Marshall New and Chuck Ross display souvenirs they brought with them from Boys State.

One of the greatest honors Lakeland High School can bestow on any pupil is the privilege of attending Boys or Girls State. Held annually in Tallahassee, this ambitious project draws representatives from many schools in the state to learn good government by practicing it. Governments are set up on local, county, and state levels with students serving in the elected offices. Lakeland Staters brought home many honors, including editor of Boys State newspaper, Boys State representative and senator, governor of Girls State, and senate majority whip for Girls Nation in Washington. Boys State and Girls State are sponsored by the American Legion.

Mike Myers, Joe Shelnut, and Rick Bird recount pleasant memories of Boys State.

Students Engage in Regulatory

Conni Mangum, Sharon Sweet, and Susan Hauseman show selling techniques to fellow store workers Barbara Gates, Brenda Ann Rusheed, and Nancy Rowley.

The school store, under the careful management of the Student Council, is a functioning part of school life. The store, operating before school and during the noon hour, runs smoothly and efficiently through the efforts of the Council treasurer and other hard-working assistants. Profits are used to finance worthwhile projects, including the student handbook.

STORE WORKERS

Store workers Janie Wooten, Esther Smith, Becky Staples, Chris Repasky, and Karen Forslev take stock to determine most popular merchandise.

Activities of School

Headed by Jeff Cox, Guerry Jones, and Ronnie Craft, this year's Campus Patrol is composed of school leaders who are willing to work at keeping traffic flowing smoothly in the halls and passageways at LHS. These boys also help in assemblies, pep rallies, and other activities involving large crowds.

CAMPUS PATROL

School Workers Keep

SCHOOL WORKERS

Guidance workers Nancy Snyder, Elizabeth Morris, and Faith Lewis file new college catalogues.

The school workers, by giving freely of their time, keep the offices operating smoothly and efficiently. We are unaware of the importance of this group which contributes so much to the overall management of the school. The office helpers collect absentee reports each period, and assist the secretaries in the keeping of records and files along with other similar tasks. Guidance workers spend hours helping the class guidance directors in their offices. These girls devote their time voluntarily to help make our school a better one.

Susie Clayton, Carol Taylor, and Karen Forslev gain worthwhile experience along with giving assistance to the guidance department.

Offices in Running Order

Busy at their duties are office workers Sally Moran, Paula Watson, Nita Jackson, Esther Smith, and Liz Hester, seated. Standing are Corinne Cook, Diane Thomas, Beth Whitaker, Charlotte Tyler, Pauline Stanfield, and Charlotte Ayscue.

Patty Garthwaite, Paula Wells, Cindy Meredith, and Diane Berger, efficient workers, keep the office humming.

FLAG BOYS

Terry Miller and Pete Johnson perform an important function of the school day, raising the flag.

Many jobs around the school go unnoticed; for example, the daily raising and lowering of the American and the state flags. The two boys that shoulder this responsibility have to be at school every morning and every afternoon, regardless of the weather, to take care of the flags. The next time you stop in the morning to salute the flag, remember the job these boys do for you. Service is an integral part of good citizenship.

ART GUILD

Twenty-five potential artists make up one of the most fascinating interest groups on campus. All members, sharing a love for the beautiful, take many field trips to places such as the Ringling Art Museum in Sarasota and to Maas advertising work rooms. In addition to the student art exhibition, the Art Guild also sponsors the framing and exhibition of student art in a permanent school art gallery.

Bobby Gaskins, Judy Gerst, Sharon Eunice Hall, Caroline Gray, Patricia Delhay, Dianne Kaufman, Anna Marie Stephens, Marion Kain, and Charles Jones prepare to board the bus for an Art-Guild-sponsored trip.

Students Adapt Themselves

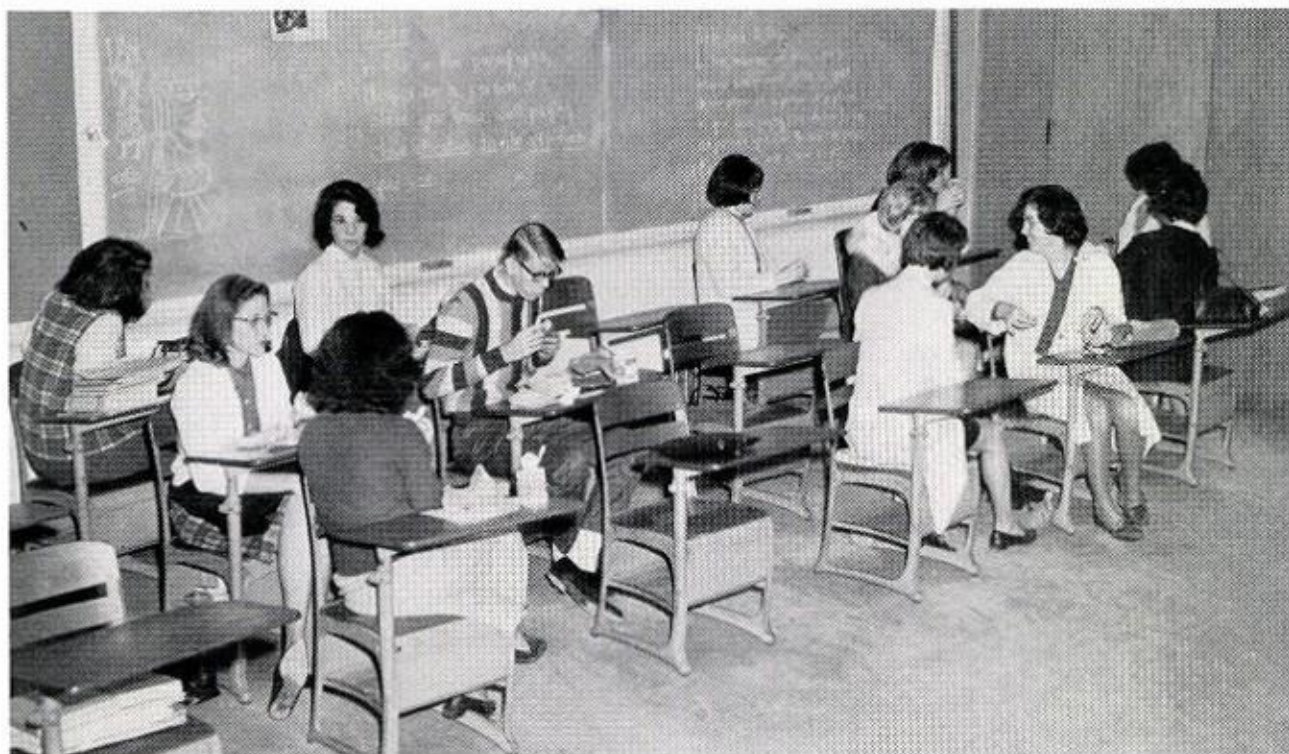

Susan Lovering uses the teen-agers' lifeline to call home for her lost history homework.

Mary Campbell and Dave Yates lead the four-minute frenzy to class.

Seniors rarely find time to just plain goof off. Here Lynn Smith and Robert Jordan show how its done.

to School Routine

Miss Haley's room converts to a cafeteria and study room during first lunch period.

Stage manager Denny Gioia conducts try-outs for the senior class play, "Mister Roberts," believed by many critics to be the greatest of war plays. Those trying out are Kerry Hayes, Jeff Cox, Santiago Sanchez, Tommy Powell, George Trask, Rad Yates, Robert Grizzard, Nancy Rowley, and Rick Strawbridge.

Hands and books will mold the future.

Today's Future Teachers

Mrs. Gladys Garrison explains the merits of the teaching profession to FTA members Margery Thomas, Beverly Warner, Chris Repasky, Andrea Repasky, Pauline Stanfield, Janie Wooten, Akiko Shiomura, Carole Riley, Linda Taylor, and Charlene Chandler.

Striving to become educators in the near future, members of the FTA learn all they can about the teaching profession. A project is observing in elementary classrooms. Building qualities of a good teacher is a goal every member strives to fulfill. The girls also serve as guides for Back-to-School Night and discuss the problems of teaching with our own faculty.

In the creed of the Future Farmers of America is this statement: "I believe in the future of farming, with a faith born, not of words, but of deeds." FFA members follow this philosophy by having agricultural projects such as vegetables, cattle, and chickens. Their annual activities include a sweetheart contest, a parent-son banquet, and participation in state and county fairs. They attend the state convention and send representatives to the national one.

Jimmy Whitaker discusses agricultural matters with Billy Reus, Gary Robbins, Dennis Fish, Henry Davis, David Arrington, and Dennis Sheffield.

Boost School Spirit

Keyettes straighten up varsity football equipment. They are Esther Smith, Linda Searl, Nancy Rowley, Susan Wishnatzki, Barbara Gates, Robin Koch, Donna Welch, and Janie Wooten.

To build spirit, a better school, and a stronger community life are aims of the Keyettes. Painting the school store, cleaning the Children's Rehabilitation Ranch, supplying the faculty with ink, and cleaning the teachers' lounge are some of the projects in which they engage. Selling pom-poms and washing cars are moneymaking projects. The annual Twirp Twirl is a treasured tradition. Profits from these efforts benefit the school, in accordance with the Keyette motto "We serve."

Megaphones for the cheerleaders were a Keyette project. Working on them are, kneeling: Susan Teate, Janie Blanton, Lois Ottinger, Bridget McCarthy, Charlotte Boyett, Connie Mangum, and Sharon Sweet. Standing are Sharon Alfonso, Carol Taylor, and Pam Ingram.

The largest organization on campus, the Pep Club, is also the newest. Formed by the Student Council, it has already become an important functioning part of our school. Its main objectives are to boost spirit before games, get the crowd out to the games, and keep up the enthusiasm after games. The Pep Club, led by three fine officers, has provided a special section for its members at all home games. This year's group has established a precedent for Lakeland High's future students to follow, for it has proved a credit to the school.

Pride of Studentry

Under the able direction of Mr. Robert Blanton, this year's Marching Dreadnaught Band proved to be the best in the history of LHS. The outstanding half-time shows during football season were the products of many hours of hard work. The band also helped boost school spirit by playing at pep assemblies. Band members, who began practicing before school started in the fall, put in many extra hours in the morning and evening drills. The band marches in parades, attends District and State contests, and gives a Christmas and a spring concert. Although the band demands devotion and diligence from its members, it gives them in return invaluable experience.

Like their predecessors . . . the 1963 eleven . . . the 1964 Lakeland Dreadnaughts were to taste the bitter fruit of ill fortune and frustration. Like their predecessors, the 1964 team was able to produce several fine team efforts that drew praise from fans and opponents.

The won-loss record may be of little note, but what will be long-remembered by Lakeland fans were the team efforts against Miami Senior and Hillsborough, and the closing victory over Manatee.

Regardless of the outcome, the Dreadnaughts gave unstintingly of themselves throughout the season. No more can be asked or expected of players. For that they can hold their heads high.

The long-awaited gridiron meeting of the Dreadnaughts and the Kathleen Red Devils erupted with a brilliant display of well executed football by LHS. In this one-sided contest our team inaugurated the new season with a 38-0 triumph. The end of the game found us one-up on our cross-town rivals and proved to the overflow crowd that we were prepared for the upcoming season.

Scoring on the first play from scrimmage, Lakeland's eleven played its finest game of the season against King of Tampa. Avenging a tie last year, the Dreadnaughts went on to win 28-7. Agile running and superb passing enabled Lakeland repeatedly to rack up first downs and touchdowns. Our homecoming game was a happy one as the final gun sounded and the Dreadnaughts marched victoriously off the field.

Handed one of their worst defeats by the Robinson Knights of Tampa, the Dreadnaughts nonetheless played a better game than statistics indicate in the lopsided score of 40-0. Results gave small indication of the effort exerted by our team and the busloads of loyal students who backed them.

Midpoint of the season found the Dreadnaughts 2-2 for conference play and 3-2 overall, a good record in view of the injuries which have always plagued Lakeland teams in the past.

Miami Senior High, ranked first in the state and second in the nation, came to Lakeland with the thought of a certain win. Miami got the win, but only by putting forth its best possible effort. The Dreadnaughts played their finest game of the season before bowing to the Stingarees 7-0. Lakeland's solid defense contained the highly regarded Miami offensive the whole night. Our offense had long sustained drives through the whole game but could not get up enough steam to score.

Seeking their first win over Chamberlain, Lakeland found the Chiefs as invincible as ever. Costly fumbles and other miscues proved to be decisive breaks in the Chiefs' 13-0 victory. Lakeland's hope of shattering the Chamberlain jinx vanished in the second half when our only available quarterback, Larrell Willis, went out of action for the rest of the season, leaving halfback Steve Jenkins the difficult job of directing the team.

Intramural Football Title Won by

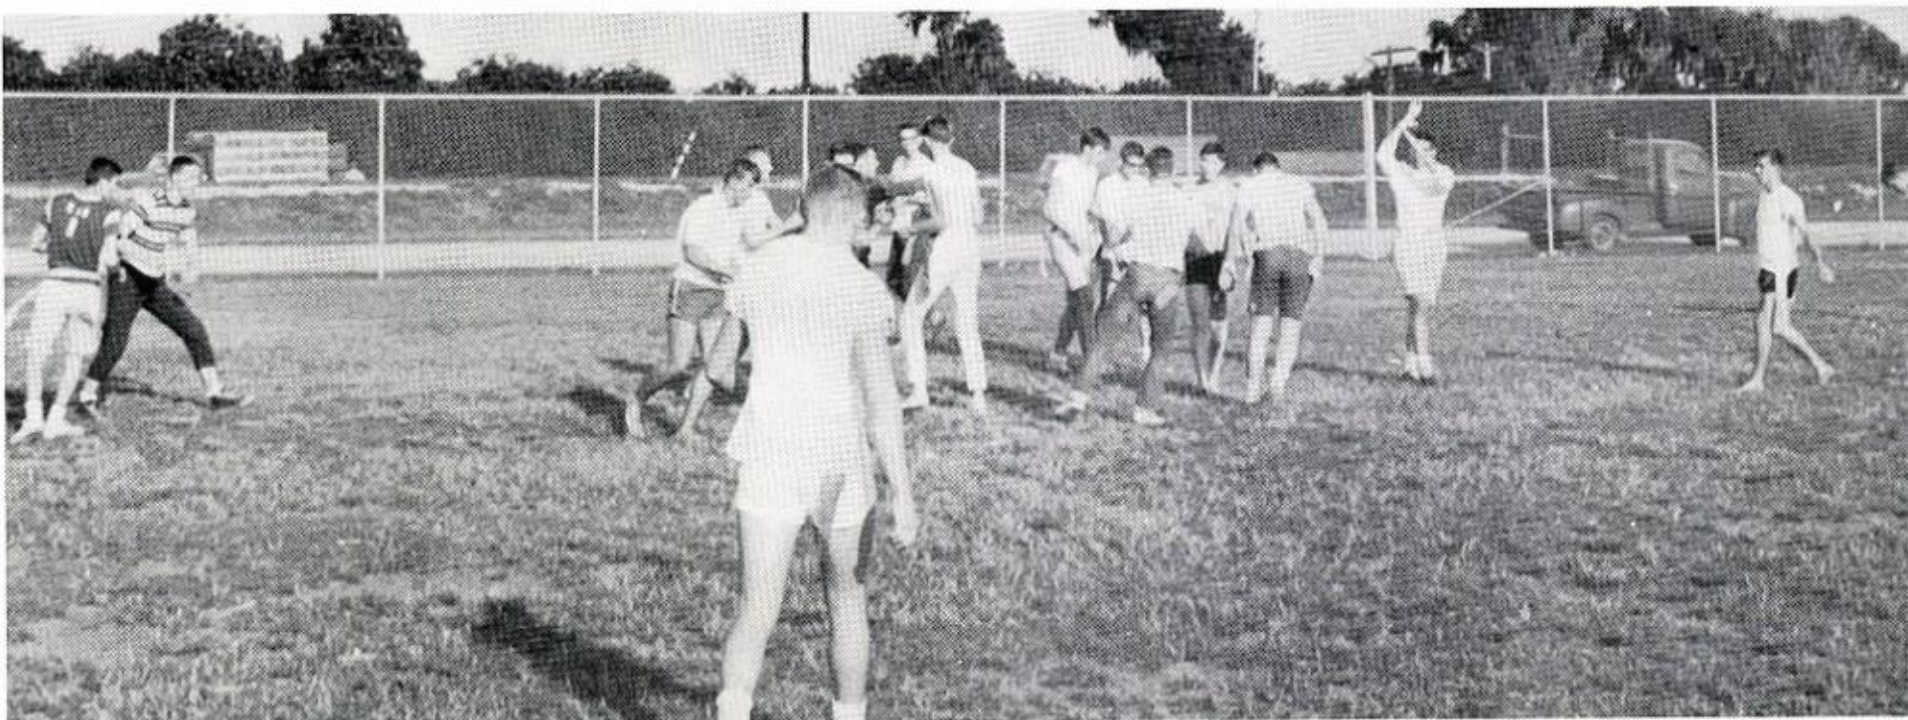

All the intramural games were well supervised. Here referee Chalmers Yeilding keeps a close watch at kick-off time.

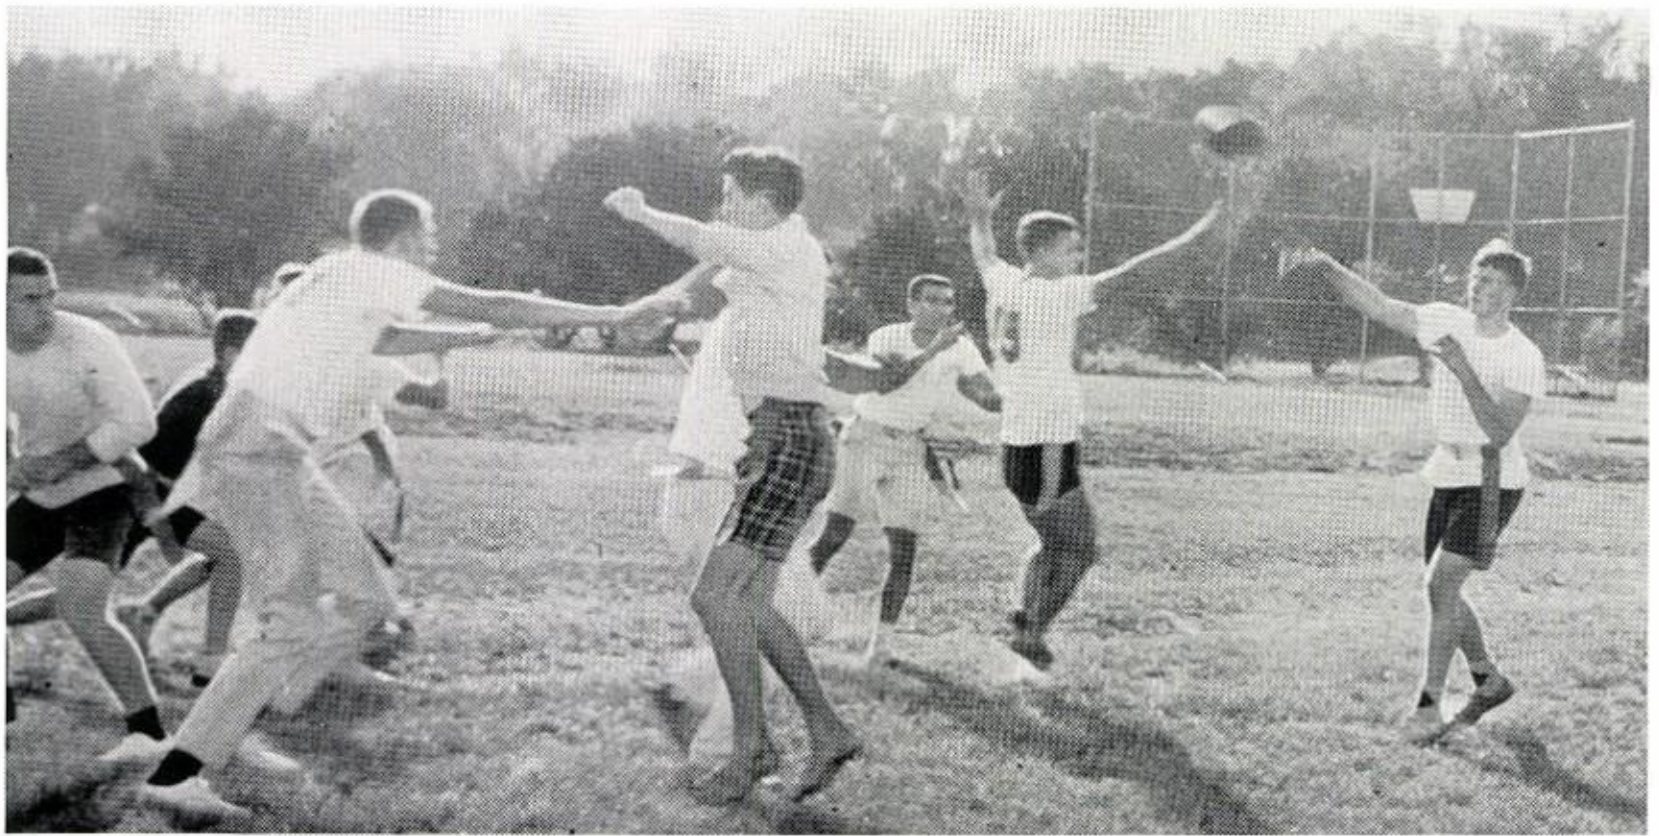

The success of the intramural program is attributable to the efforts of Coach Robert Saunders.

Sporting its biggest year yet, intramural football kicked off the season with fourteen teams in contention for the honor of being intramural champs. Such teams as Robin and the Seven Hoods, Interact, Harriers, Junior Lions, and the Ryals were main competitors for the coveted title. The tournament was on a double elimination basis with the top spot going to Robin and the Seven Hoods. The intramural program is fortunate again this year to have Coach Robert Saunders as its head. In addition to football, intramural plans include billiards, basketball, tennis, and golf.

A controversy on the field results from an infraction of the rules.

Robin and the Seven Hoods

In the intramural football eliminations, David Swindell of Robin and the Seven Hoods goes for a short gain against the Spades. A victory for the Hoods sent them to the final play-off against the Harriers.

Interact puts the rush on the band in a game which resulted in the band's second loss, and elimination in the intramural competition.

Although dress was casual, rules were strictly enforced, and rushing the punter was legal.

Golf Coach

Under the able coaching of Miss Mabel Caperton, this year's edition of the golf team set out for the conference season in hopes of equaling or even bettering the fine golf records of former years. Along with the regular returning lettermen, Lakeland is fortunate to have the two Repasky girls, Andrea and Chris, as an addition to the well-rounded team.

Stamina for Wins

Billy Hall rolls over the high jump bar at 5'6"

Jerry Fannin and Jon Middents are caught in mid-air as they show perfect form in running the high hurdles.

Kenneth Addair exerts all his muscle power as he throws the shot put.

Track Draws Many Participants

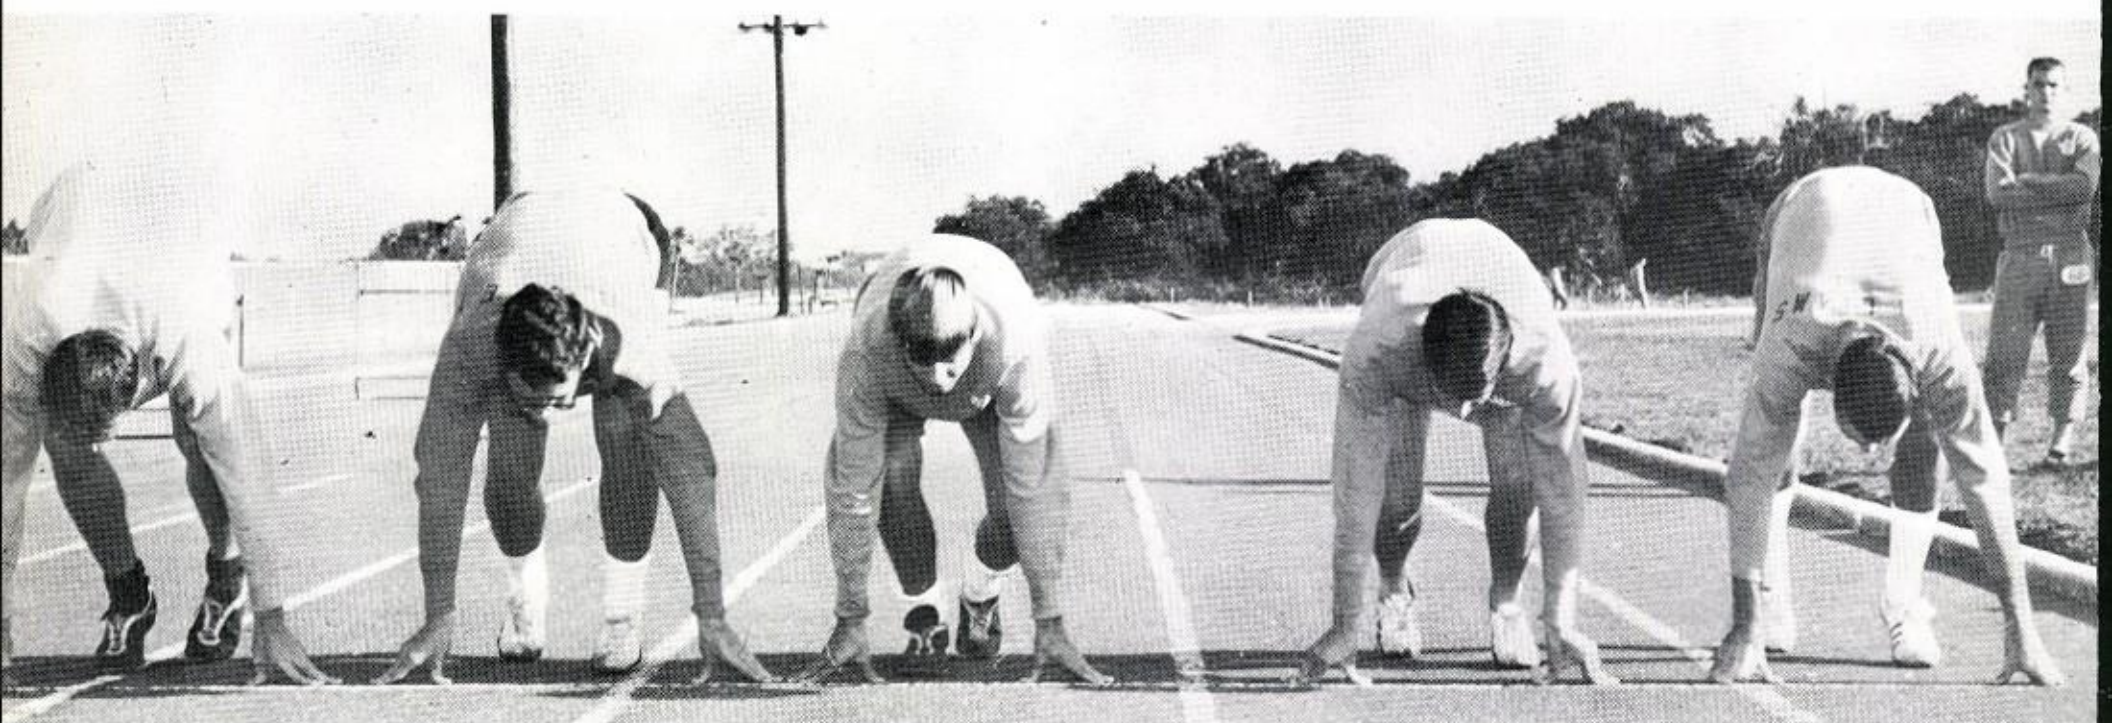

Kenny Rowlett, Scott Reed, Bobby Johns, and Jim Taylor finish a quick 440.

Martin Banks practices his specialty, the discus.

Denny Gioia soars over the high jump bar.

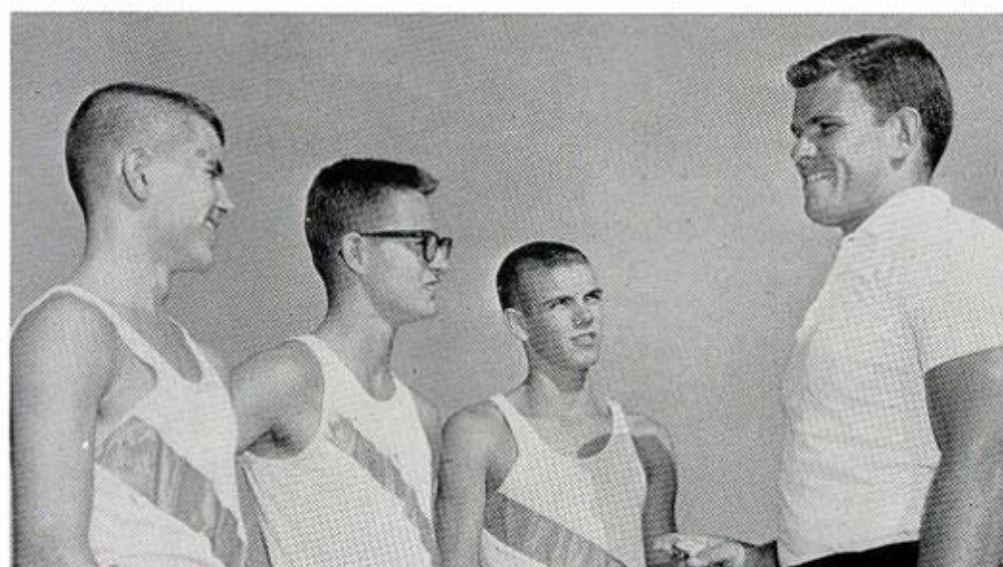

Sprinters Jon Middents, Jim Mooney, Leigh Thomason, Ron Meeks, and Jim Williams get in position for the hundred-yard dash.

Lakeland Wins Its First Cross-Country Trophy

On a practice lap around the school athletic field are cross country runners Billy Hall, Jerry Fannin, Kenny Rowlett, Billy Melton, Jay Allen, Mike Dickey, and David Hamilton.

Sporting an even better team than last year's, Coach Robert Saunders gave LHS a proud competitor in this activity, and a splendid contribution to campus athletics. No other sport has earned such a commendable record and received so little praise for its efforts. Lakeland runners took first place in meets in Auburndale, King of Tampa, and one home contest. The locals finished third out of twelve at the Boone Invitational Meet, placed ninth out of twenty-eight statewide and unofficially won the conference championship at a Manatee Junior College meet.

Coach Robert Saunders talks strategy to his three returning cross country men from last year, Jim Taylor, Jay Allen, and Kenny Rowlett.

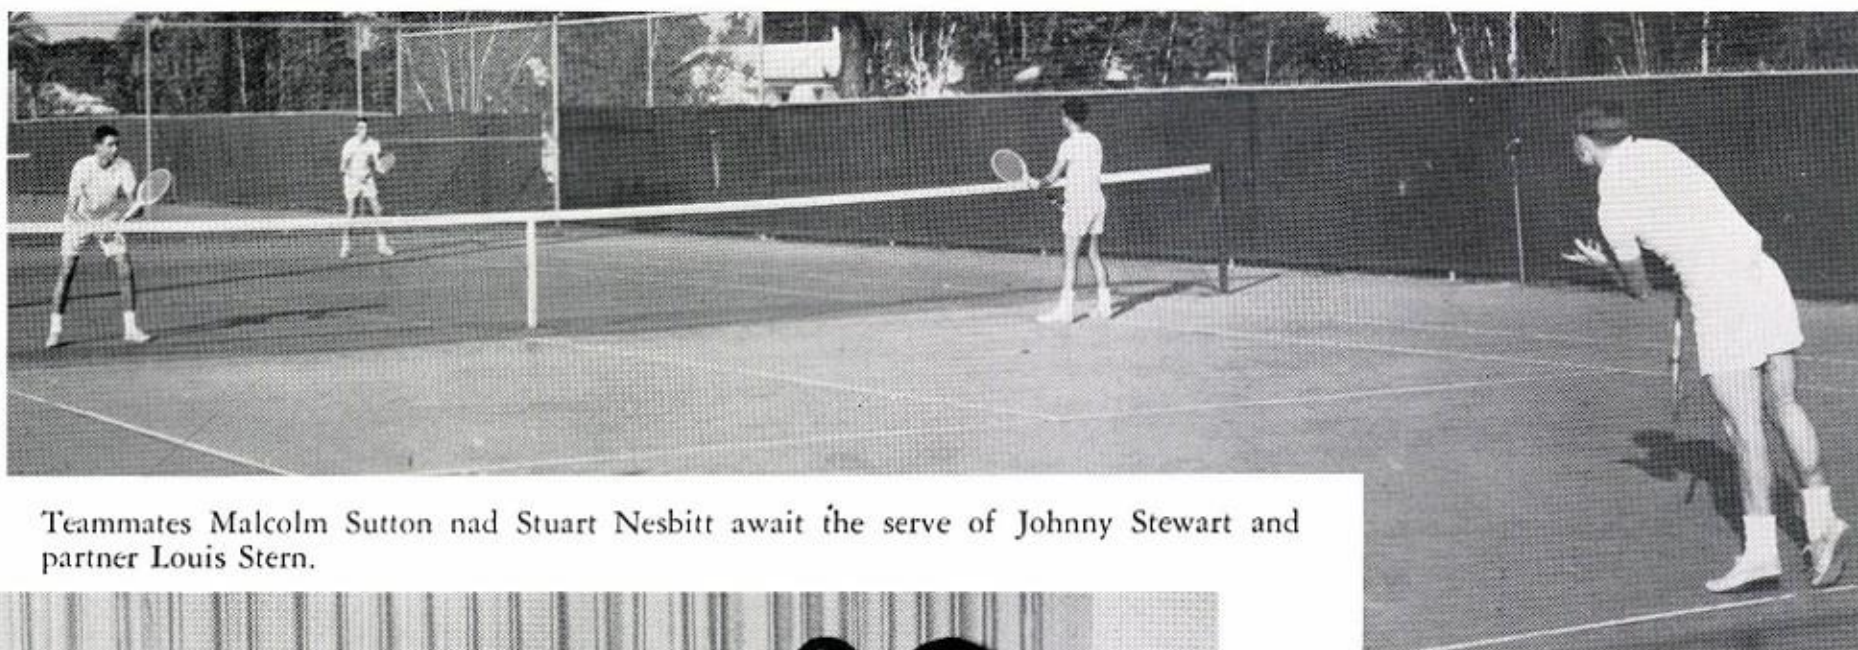

Finishing the final stretch are Philip Scott, John Spoerlein, Myron Thompson, and Billy Hall.

Annual Awards Banquet

Teammates Malcolm Sutton and Stuart Nesbitt await the serve of Johnny Stewart and partner Louis Stern.

Coach Nurmi Nelson is surrounded by important football players at the football banquet. They are Valse Johnson, Graham McKeel, Donovan Jones, Larry Libertore, Larry Dupree, Gary Mulhan, and Dwayne Glenn. All are graduates of Lakeland except Larry Libertore and Larry Dupree.

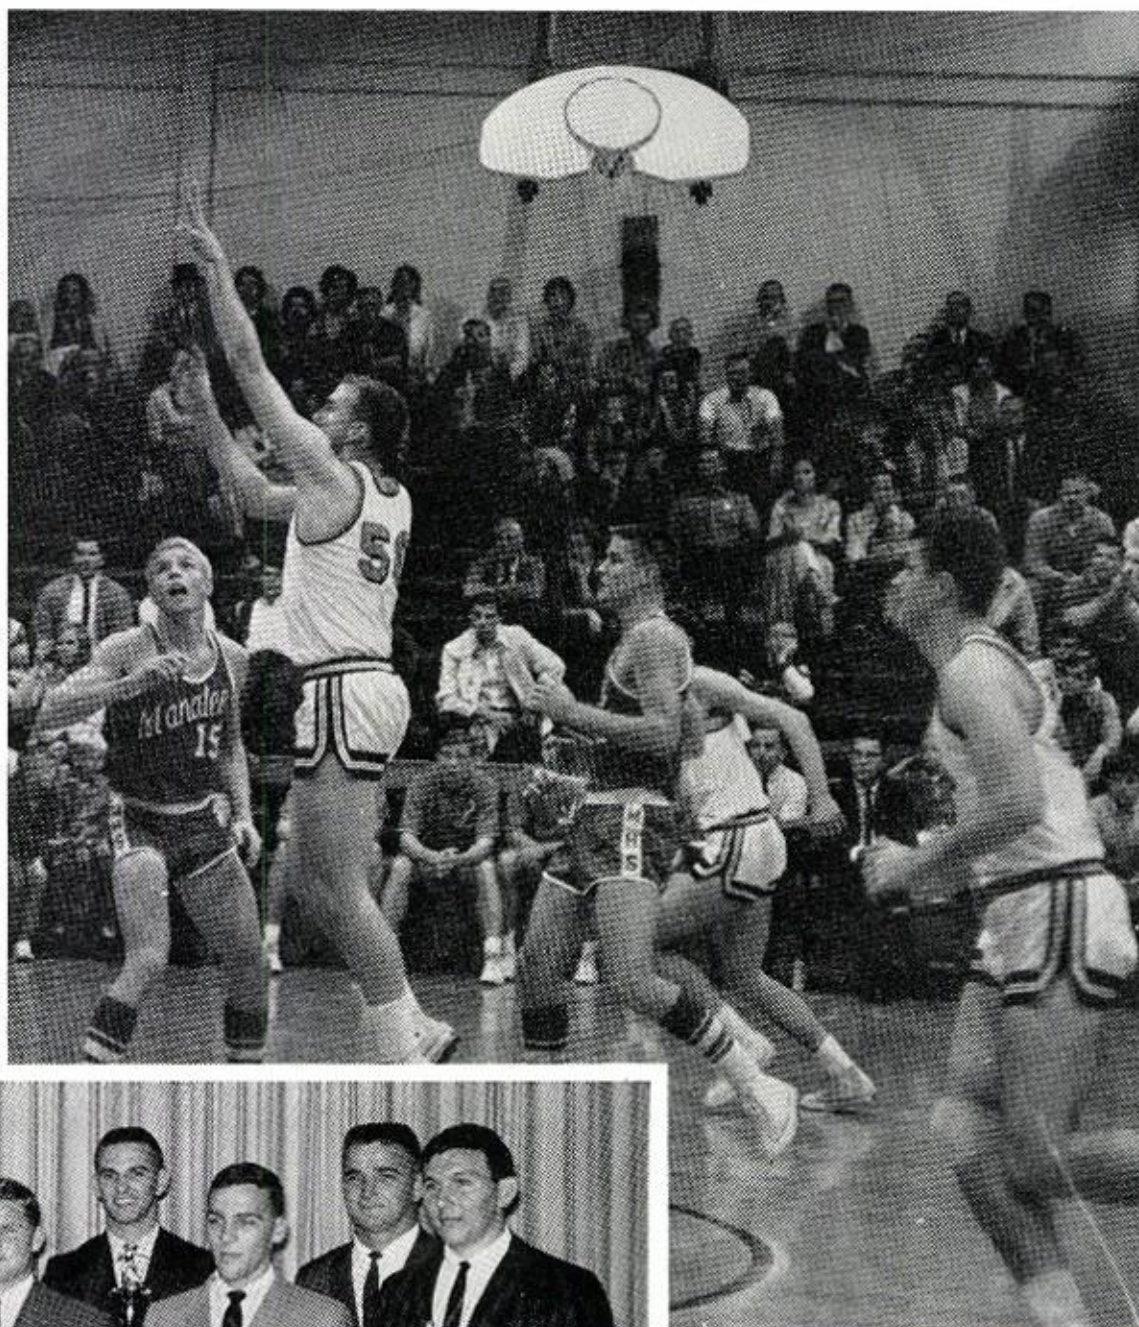

Capacity crowds at the Homecoming assembly and all other assemblies prove the need for a new auditorium as the student body grows larger every year.

Honors Football Stars

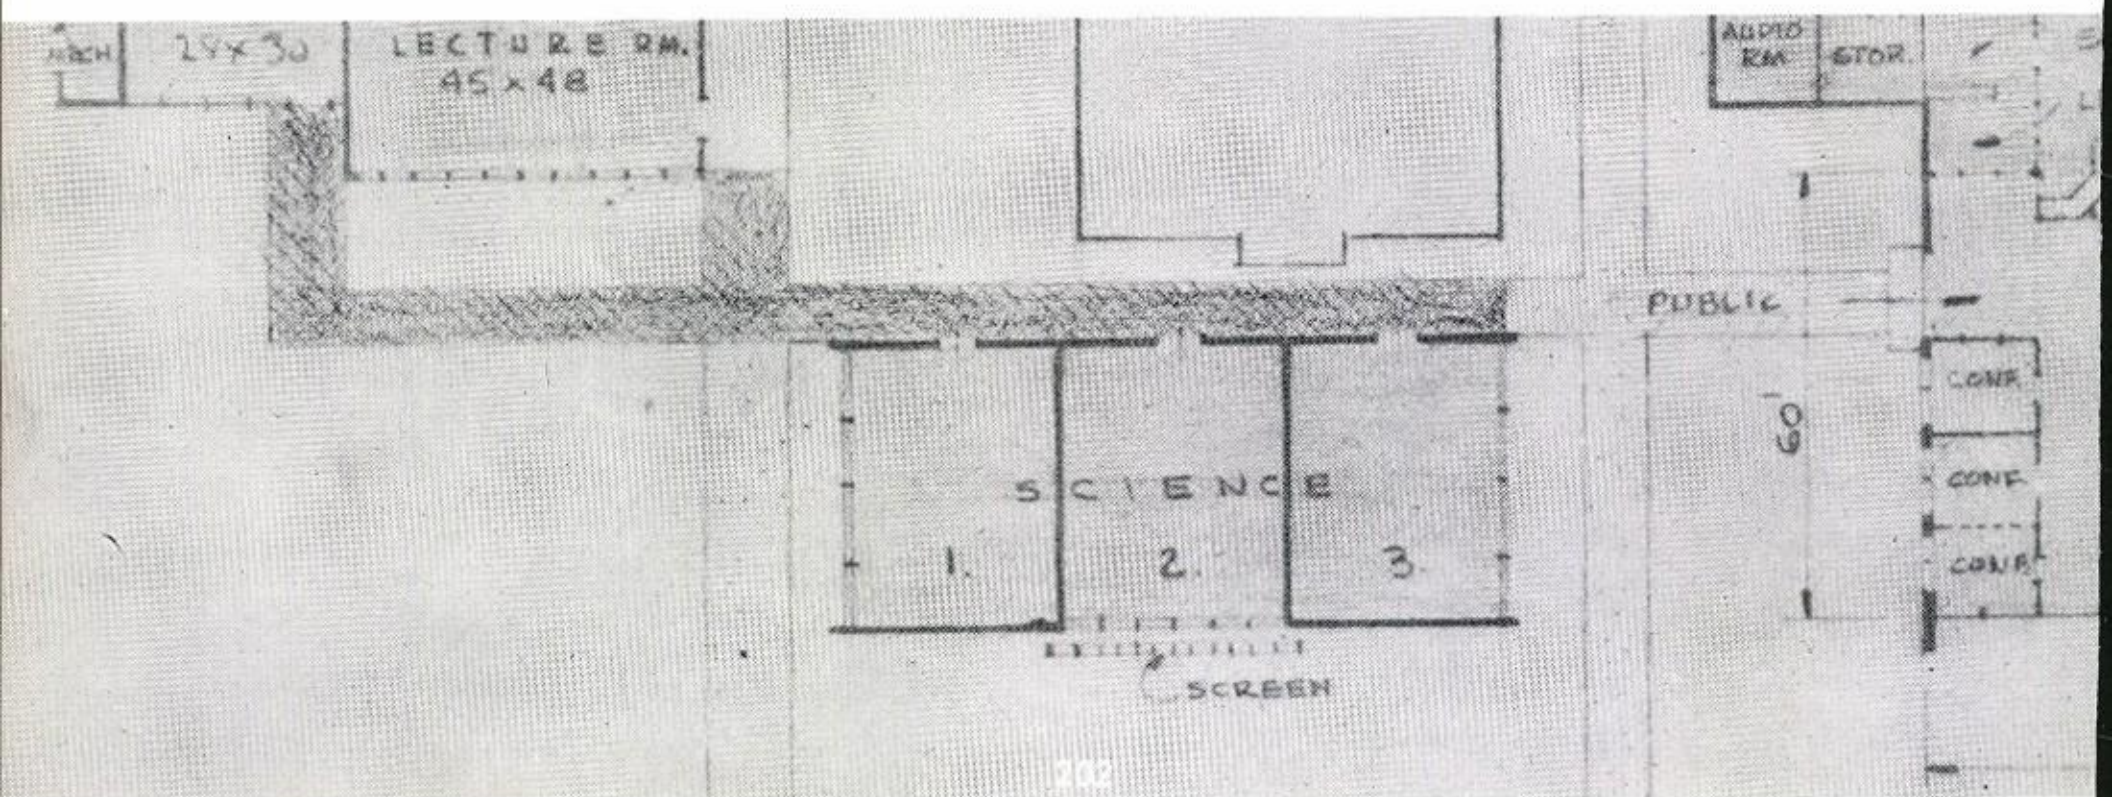

Miami Senior has always provided fans with the best football fare of the season.

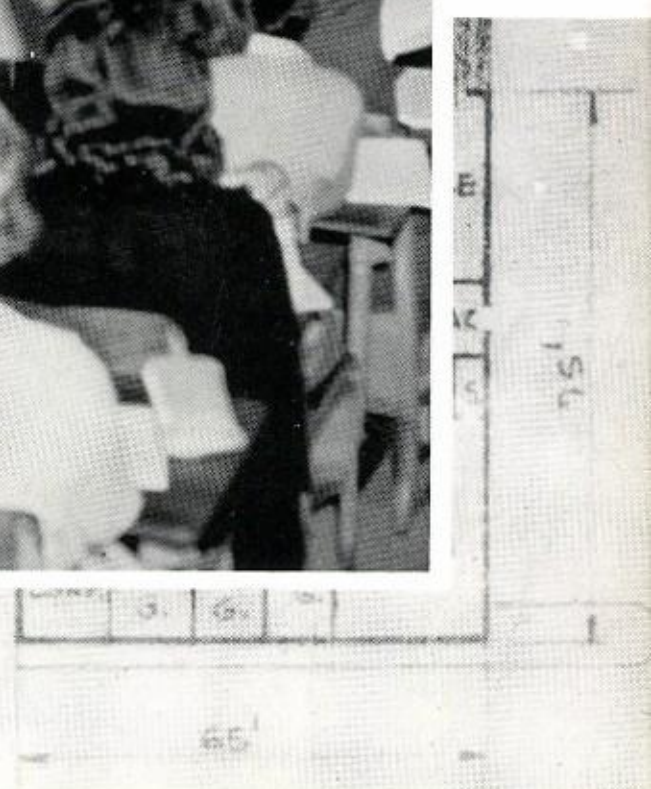

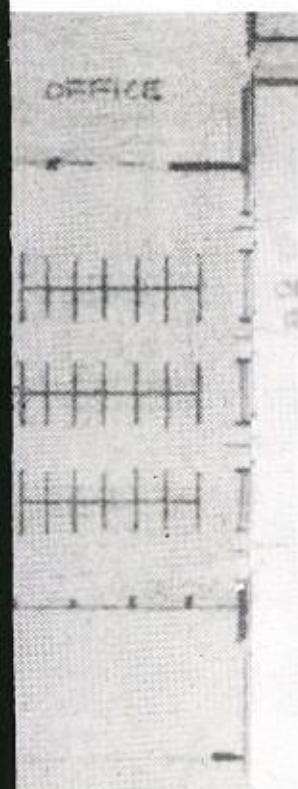

Height and speed gave the Dreadnaughts a better than .500 average for the year.

At the traditional football banquet the following awards were made: Jon Ahlschwede, outstanding defensive lineman; Bobby Gates, outstanding offensive halfback; Joe Shelnut, Dreadnaught captain, and Boosters' Club award; Rick Bird, spirit award; Ken Addair, outstanding defensive lineman; Ken Titus, outstanding offensive lineman; Bill Curry, sportsmanship; Steve Jenkins, most valuable; Coach Bill Krietemeyer; and Bill Beasley, most improved.

Since birth we have been shaped by others. Parents first began to build us, to nourish our bodies and shape our minds. They taught us to speak, to run, to share, and to hit back, but not to hit first. That was the foundation.

We came eagerly to school to learn more about the world. The teachers taught us manners and respect. Discipline was built into our eyes and ears; action into our fingers and feet. As our knowledge grew, the world became more provocative. We had everything to discover as we were shaped; we felt ourselves pioneers.

Until our senior year in school, we continued to grow under the influence and concern of the builders around us . . . the builders of knowledge, personality and character. Our senior year is the threshold. Now we are asked for something in return. We begin to realize the goal of our builders, the challenge to each of us.

Teachers no longer guide our hands to work. We must individually invent and create with the tools they have built in us. The foundation is laid. The doorway is but framed. Now we are the builders. With purpose, with pure design, we must raise the structure which will mark our generation in time.

Junior Leadership Strengthens

As sophomores we settled down to the routine of high school life, but as juniors we began to discover the life in high school routine. Warnings from upperclassmen telling of late hours, piles of homework, no time for fun, and "the toughest year ever" have failed to extinguish the zest of juniors anticipating "the best year yet."

Juniors are participating in more organizations and athletic events than any previous junior class, and as a result of their efforts have been thrust into the spotlight of school and community commendation. Combining the aptitudes of scholarship, sportsmanship, and serviceability, energetic juniors contribute to the fine reputation of Lakeland High.

When the last magazine has been sold, the last decoration taken down from the reception, and the last day of school finished, the Junior Class of '65 will look back with pride, never slowing its pace towards its ambition of being the Graduating Class of '66.

"Where's the cafeteria?"

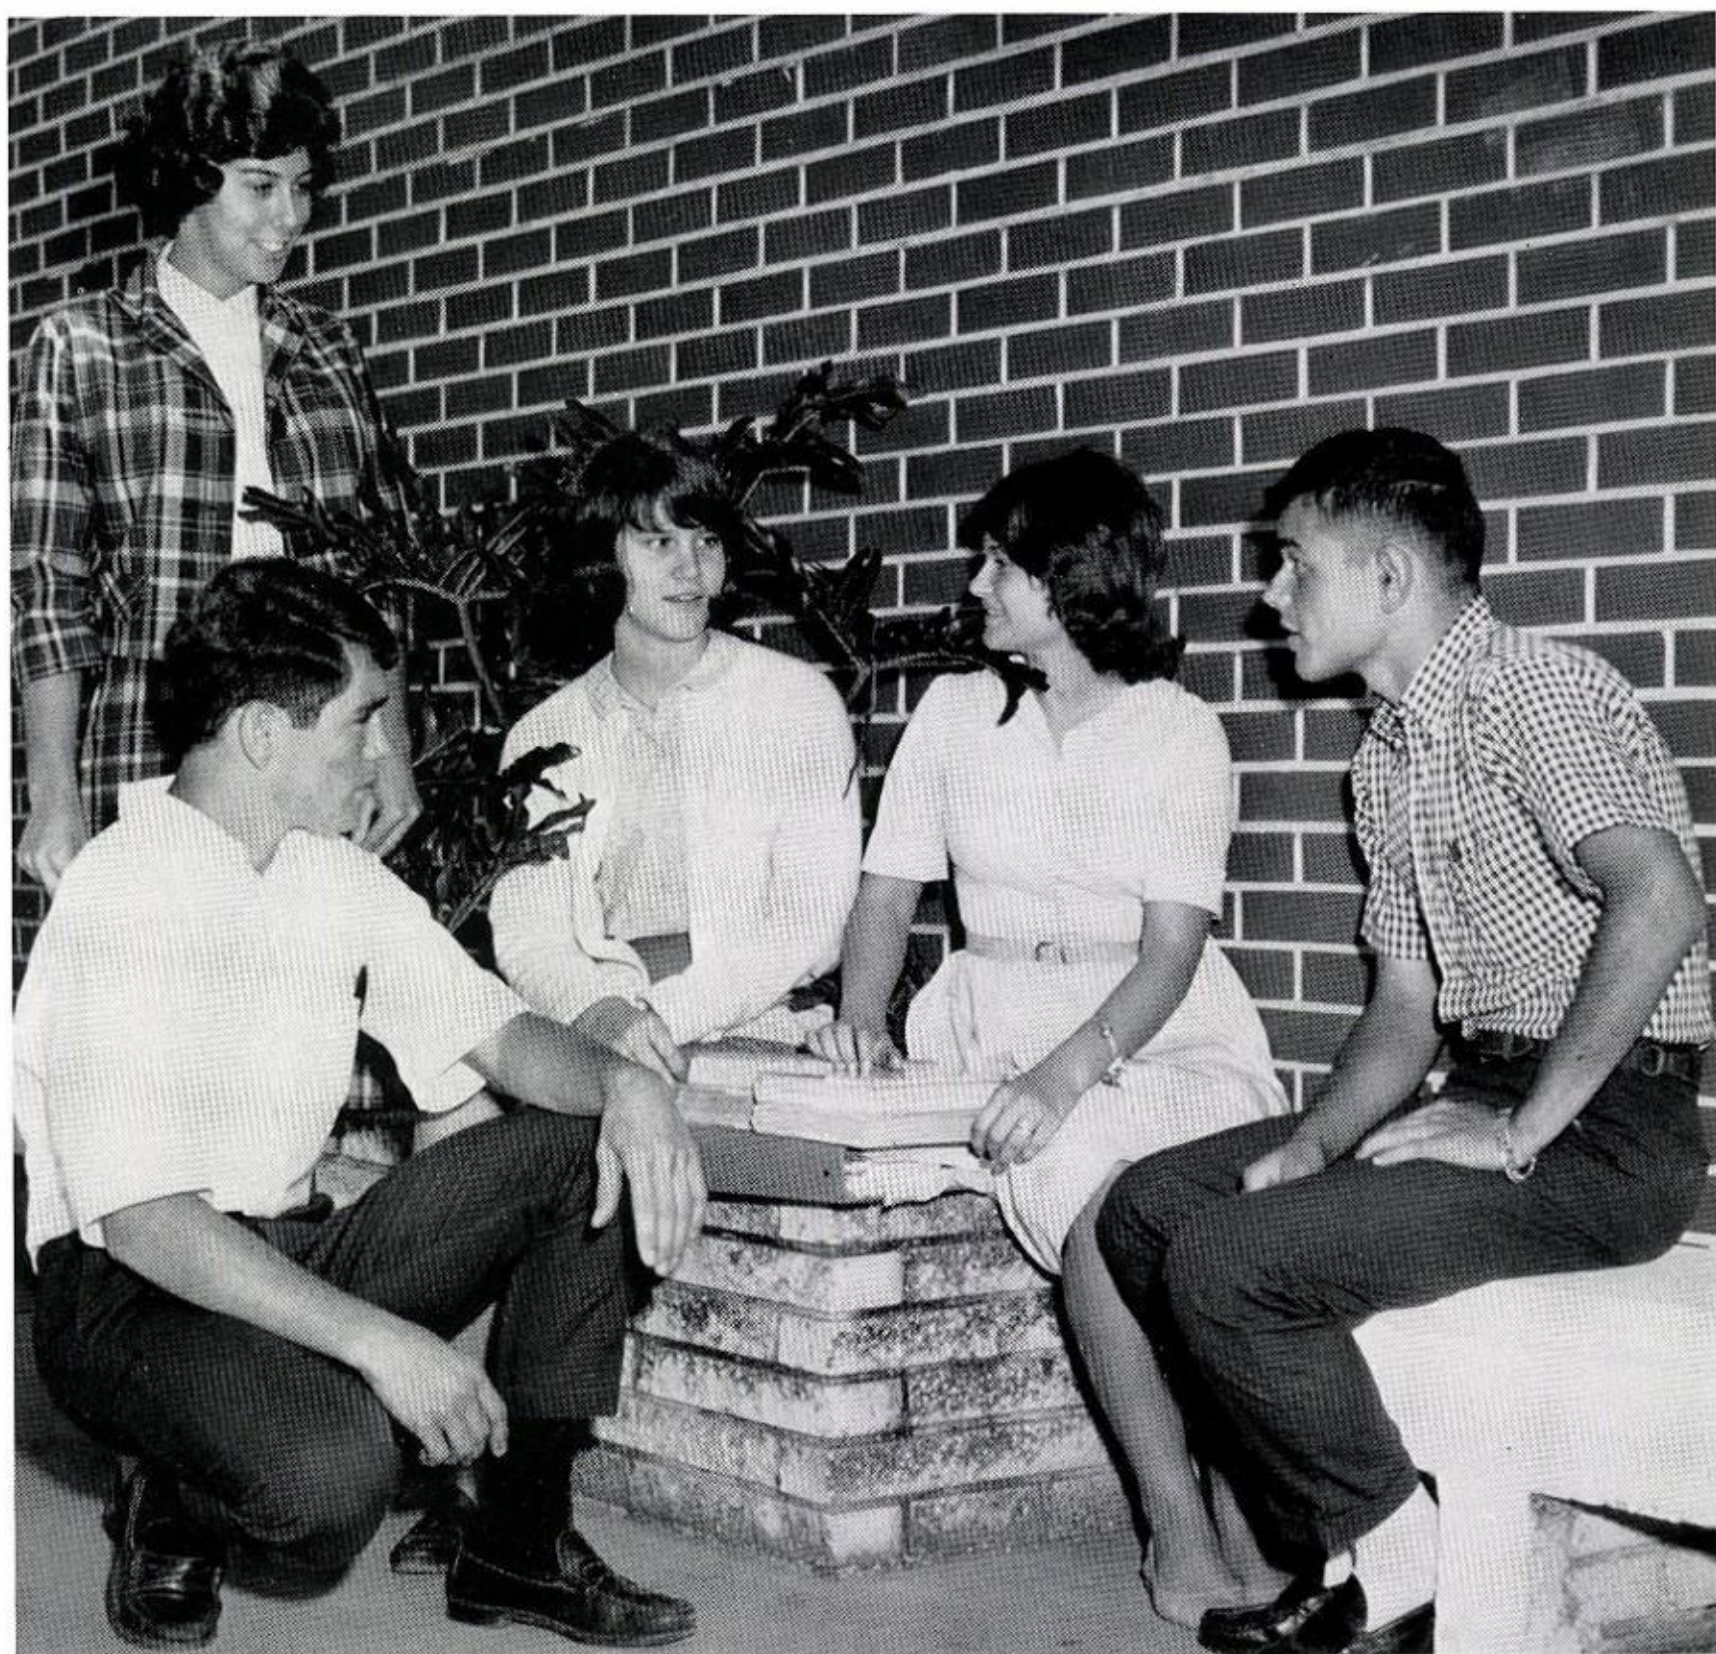

"Is she a good teacher?"

"Sit down. That's the senior bell."

"Sophomores, thumbdiddy!"

Initiated by these and other new sounds, the 1964 sophomore class became acquainted with LHS. Formerly a timid, questioning group, they include previous rivals from the two junior highs, who were drawn together as they entered their new school home.

They presented a skit at the Dreadnaught Drag, planned the annual sophomore dance for the spring, and in general gravitated to various clubs in a zealous effort to become bona fide LHS'ers.

Sophomore class officers Brenda Adkins, Denny LaMotte, Bonnie Oxford, Judy Schultz, and Johnny Rachell name committees for their skit to be presented at the Drag.

We Build . . .

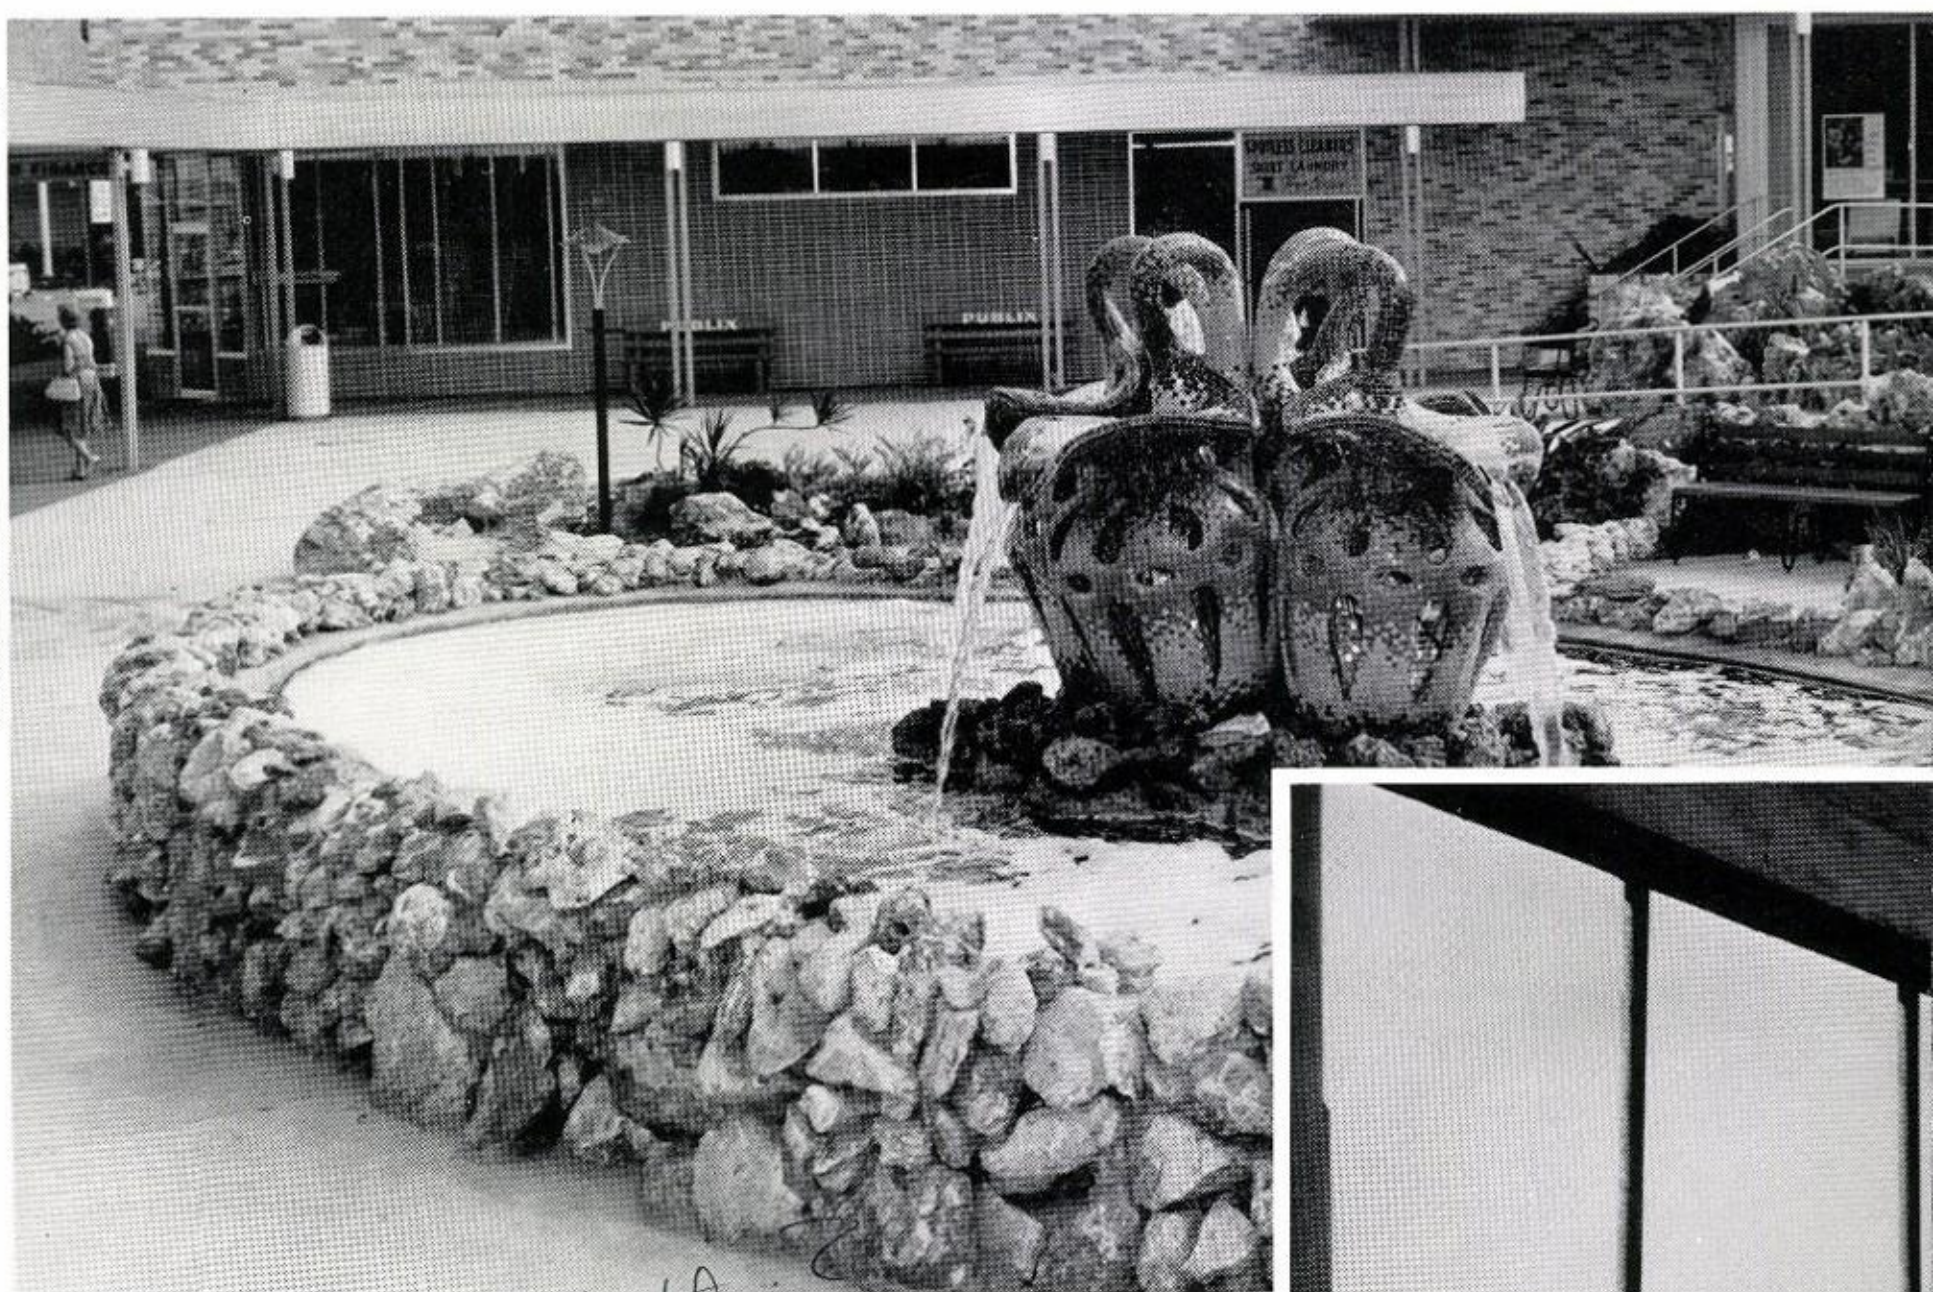

One short decade ago 726 Hollingsworth Road was an over-grown orange grove. Trees gave way to construction as frames of buildings began to appear. Out of the midst of confusion appeared a new LHS.

Again to meet the needs of a growing community, LHS expanded with the addition of a choral building, an enlarged administrative office, a new science wing, a larger library, and a cafetorium. At the cost of $500,000 and disrupted classes, LHS is better prepared to meet the requirements of this technological world.

The choral building, including a teaching stage and seating for one hundred fifty people, is designed to be used for lectures in all subjects. The expansion of the office enables the synthesis of the administrative and guidance facilities. The enlarged library can accommodate a larger number of volumes and thereby better serve the student body in academic studies. A science wing, including laboratories for physics, chemistry, and biology, combines the latest equipment with individual study facilities. The new cafetorium will serve a dual role—an enlarged lunchroom with seating for seven hundred fifty people and an auditorium for class and community meetings.

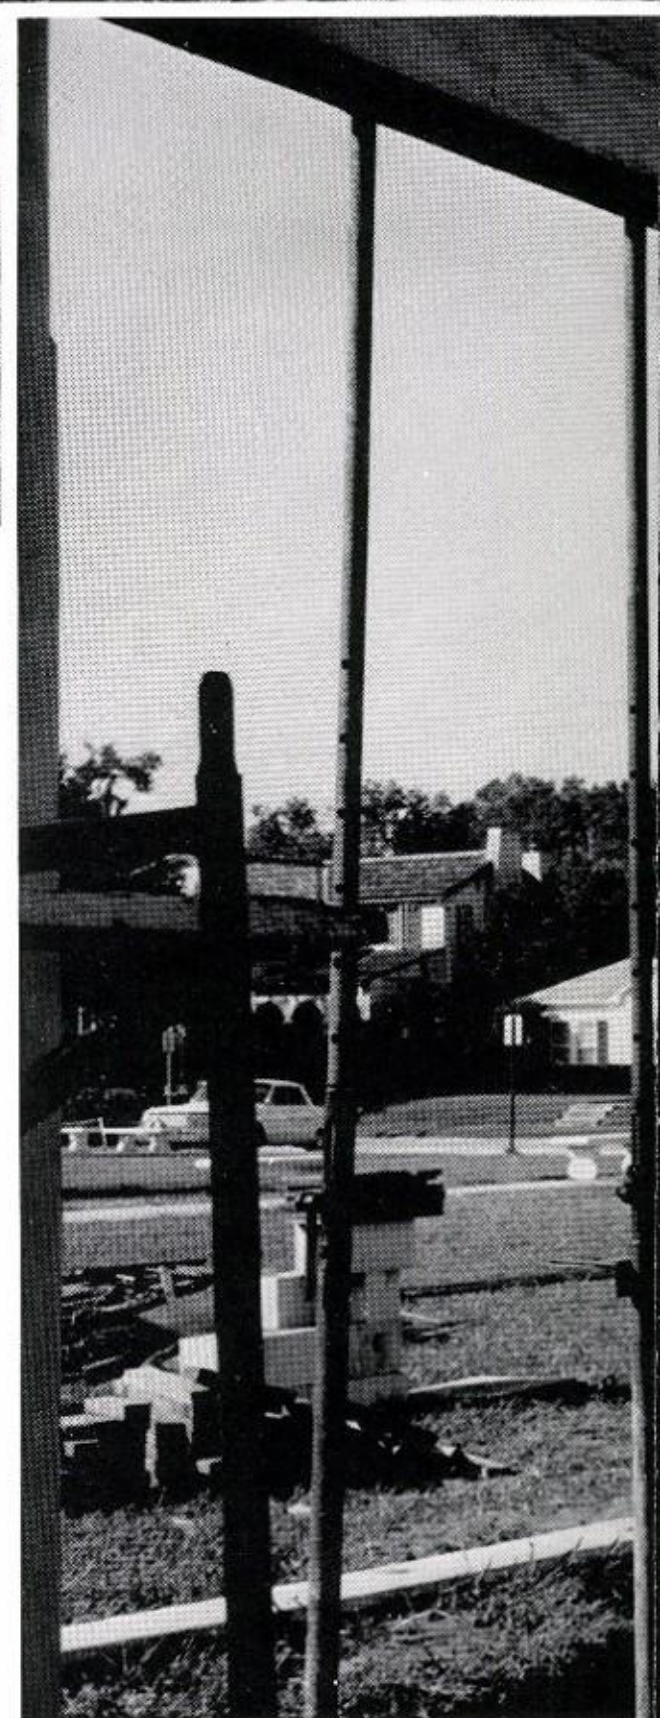

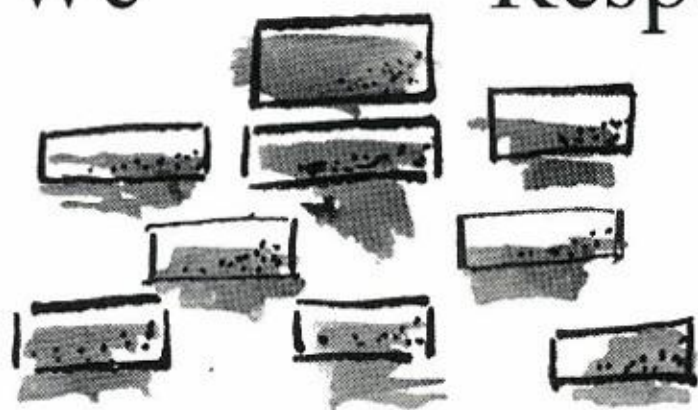

Construction of the new buildings has been costly to student life. We will remember the incessant noise of bulldozers and tractors tearing down and building up, the inconvenience of parking amidst construction—or two blocks from the school, and the hazards of walking on the school grounds.

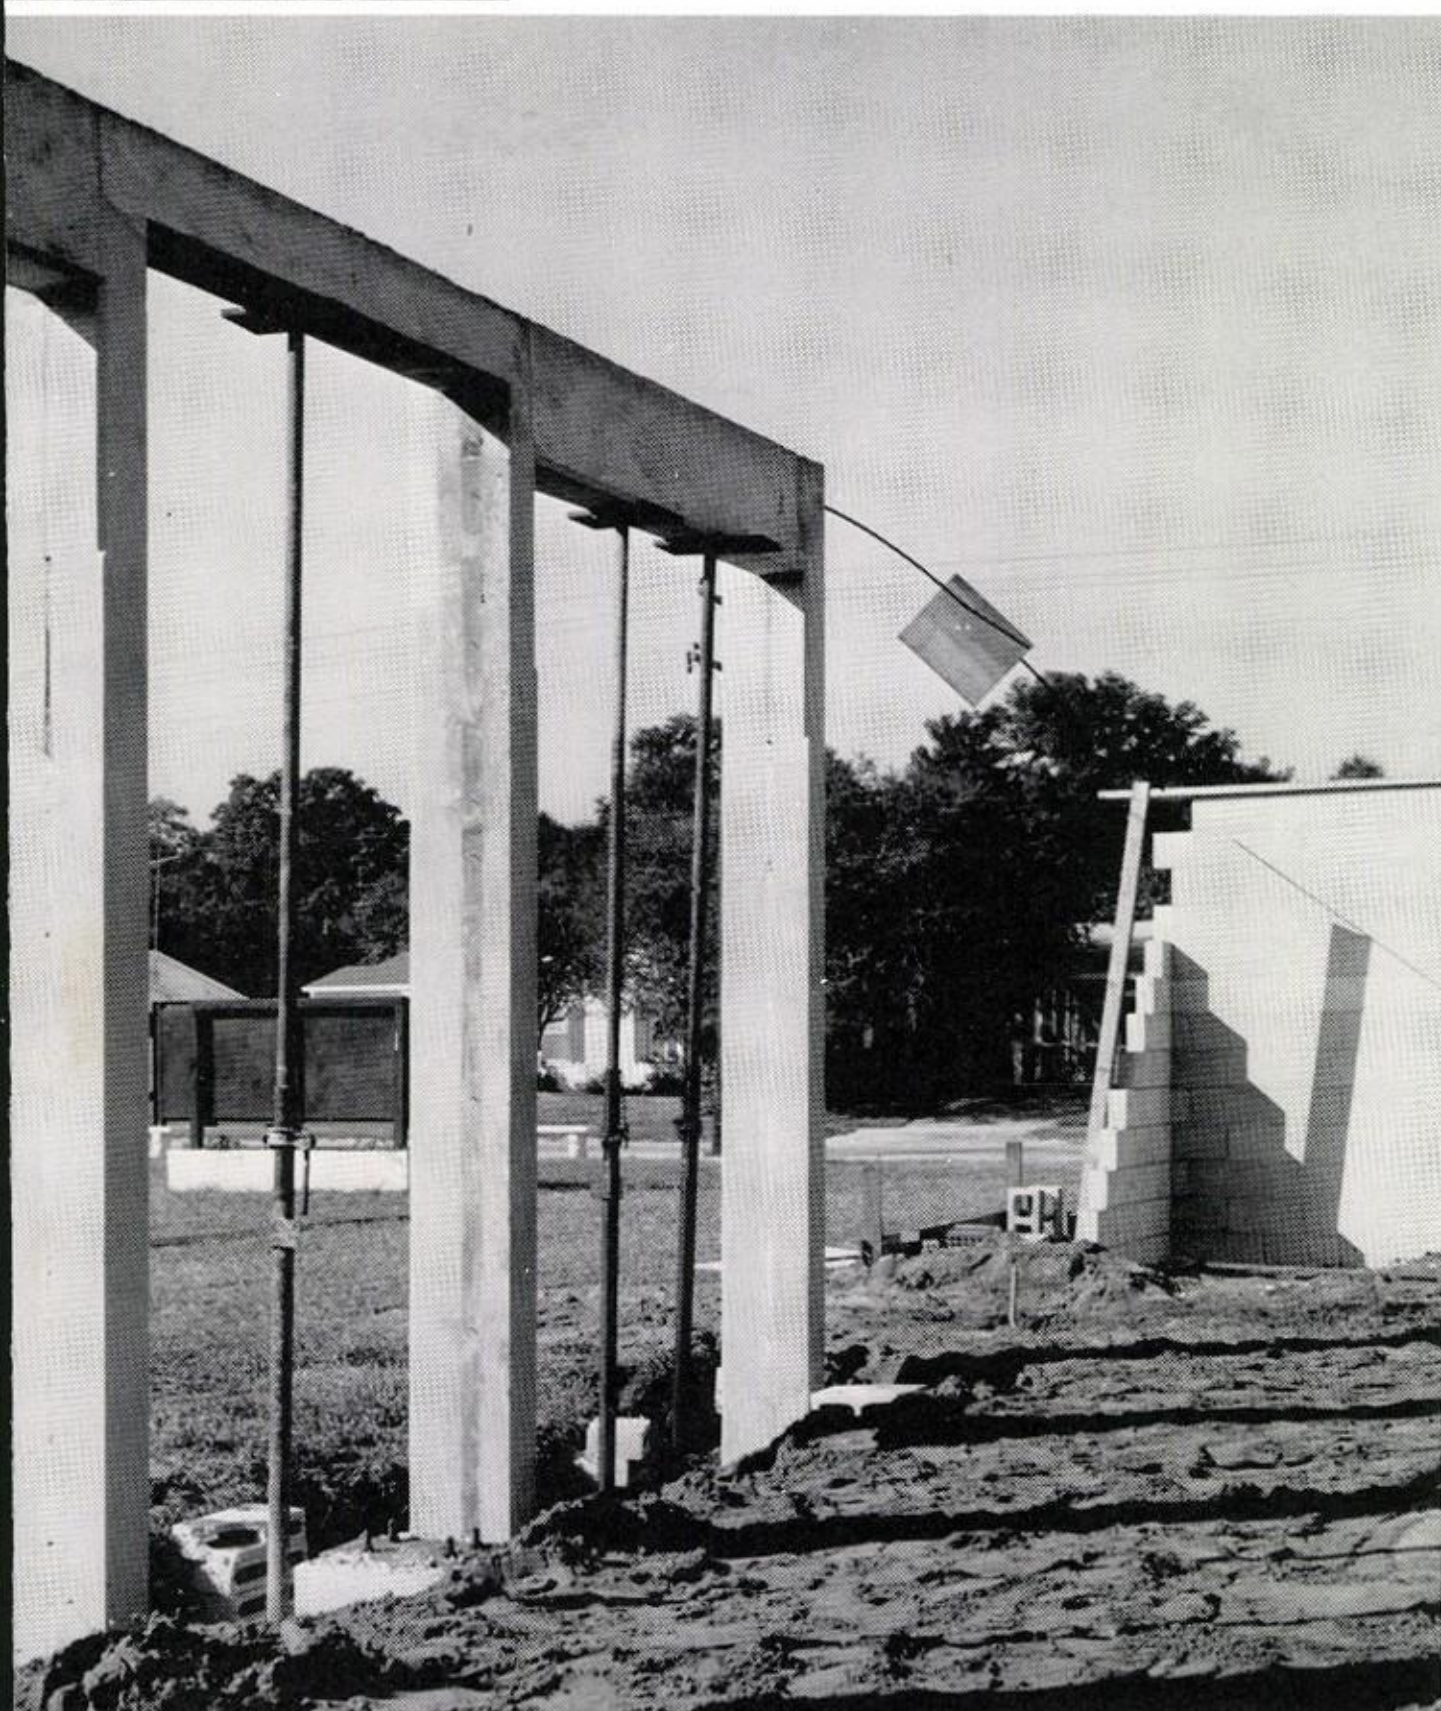

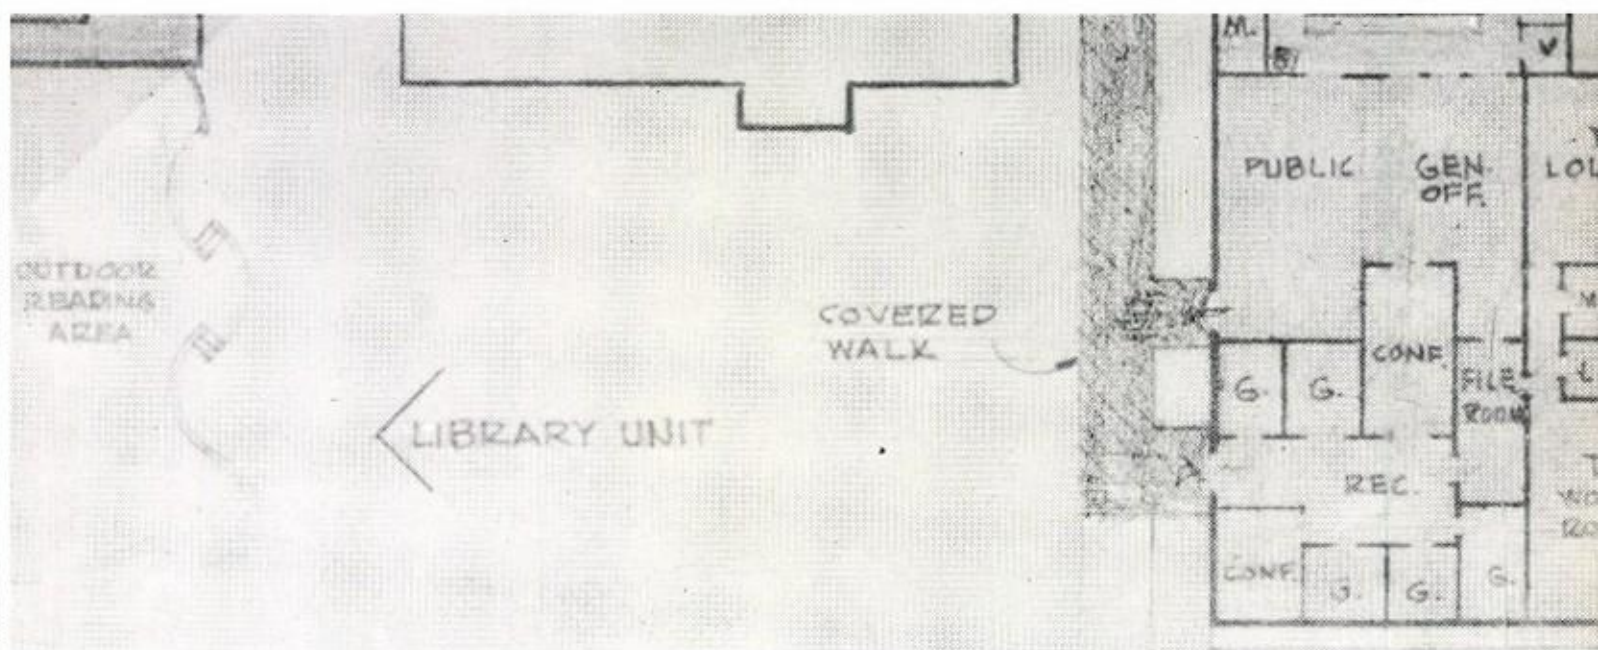

At the present time other new schools are under construction in the Lakeland area to meet the needs of the ever-increasing number of students. The expansion of LHS is only a stop-gap until student numbers require another high school.

This year has been hectic with the noise and activity of construction. During the building outside the school, we have been busy inside building the yearbook. Like the construction work, the yearbook has involved not only careful planning, but arguments, triumphs, mistakes, despair, and excitement. You hold in your hands the result of a hard-working twenty-two man construction crew. We extend special thanks for the cooperation and help of the administration and faculty; Mr. Duane Perkins of Perkins Photographic; Mr. Johnny Lewis of Tompkins Studio; Mr. Dick Phillips of Phillips Studio; Mr. Lon Watters, Mr. John Wright, Mr. Bob Lynch of Taylor Publishing Company; Tommy Powell, Denny Gioia, students of Lakeland Senior High School; and the merchants and businessmen of Lakeland. They have been the foundation for our work.

Sandee,
It shore has been a real great year, this year
in D.C.T. Don't forget all the funny times in
Mr. Glenn's Class.
Best of luck in the future. Love,
Diane
Jury

Sandee,
To a real sweet girl May you always have everything in life. Stay as sweet
as you are now.
Love Yal.

Sandee,

Always remember the good times we had in class and out!

Please stay as you are and you will win many friends with your friendly personality.

Best of luck with your hopes and dreams.

Lots of Luck.

Sandee,

It has been fun
knowing you these past two years.

Remember our DET
Parties? You know,

I hope our friendship can last forever.

Love Ya Loads -

Sandee,

I wish you the best of luck in the future. May every wish and dream you have come true. May you have a happy life with your future husband, (whoever he may be).

Always remember the fun we've had in D.C.T. & English. May God bless and keep you always.

Love Ya!

Sandee,
to a real sweet girl.
I hope that you and Tommy get back together because I know that still loves you and you two will always be happy with each other. May you always

Sandee,
I wish you the greatest of success in everything that you undertake, sweet girl, for you will give, including that of your life and you will have a cut, and you will have it made.

Sandee,

Here's wishing all the luck in the world to a real deserving
"gal." Just stay as sweet & cute as you are now and luck & happiness will accompany you in the future.

Love forever,

Always remember this Past summer and all the ups and downs that you, Pat and I went through. Be sure to stay the same sweet
girl that I have known.
Best of luck always.
Love ya,

To the nicest of girls. Best of luck. You should do better work in English.

Dear Sandy,
Loads of Luck to real sweet gal. Remember all the goofy times at Tag.
AN Pete, and if you ever go wheeling around on and
"ole" office chair again think of me. Okay! Okay!! May God Bless and keep you always for the one you love.
